

ting but when at the cross it was going slowly. The pony had almost crossed the road when the car ran into it. Witness heard no horn sounded.

The Justice said he thought Lynch blew his horn and he believed his evidence given on oath to that effect.

James Hough said he was about 35 yards away when the crash occurred. He heard no horn being sounded.

BOTH CASES DISMISSED.

The Justice said that this was the same sort of case as the last one and he thought it was a fight between the two parties. He would dismiss both cases but would say that if he were the owner of a horse and trap he would not approach the cross at a trot.

CHARLEVILLE NOTES

(From Our Correspondent).

Red Cross Dance.

The Committee of the local branch of the Irish Red Cross Organisation have secured Mr. Pat O'Callaghan's amplified band from Mallow for the forthcoming dance in aid of the local section, which will be held in the Parochial Hall, Charleville, on Sunday night, January 26th. Tickets for this function are already going well and in view of the laudable object for which it is being organised a huge attendance is anticipated.

The 'Flu.

A mild form of 'flu. is prevailing in the district and quite a number of people are confined to bed. The severe frost of last week and a bitter eastern breeze made outdoor conditions unpleasant, but fortunately the weather has become milder during the past two or three days.

Late Mr. Patrick Vaughan.

Mr. Patrick Vaughan, of Rossmore, Castletownconyers, Co. Limerick, whose death took place on Monday last, was a well-known figure in the agricultural life of the county and his demise will be deeply regretted in his native district. He was the father of the Rev. P. Vaughan, C.C., St. Lawrence O'Toole's, and of Rev. D. Vaughan, C.C., SS. Michael and John's, Dublin. The interment took place at Castletown on Wednesday after Office and High Mass at Ballyagran.

TODD'S (Limerick) are offering remarkable value in All Departments at their Sale now in progress in both Drapery and Furniture Houses.

programme was thoroughly enjoyed by a large attendance and Mr. T. Crowley T.D., was the M.C.

Galbally's Talent.

A galaxy of talented artistes constituted the main part of the programme, and the supplementary items were contributed by local artists, who included visitors from Knocklong. Of the men dramatists Mr. W. J. Fennan won his way into the hearts of the crowd with his dignified phraseology. In the ladies section Miss B. Sampson gave a very promising performance in her stage debut.

Other Artists.

Other good artists were:—Miss Nora Scully, Miss Mary Connors and Messrs. T. P. O'Donnell, P. J. Cussen, Tom Muvay and D. Danaher. M. J. Fitzgerald acted as stage manager.

Concert Items.

Miss Bridie O'Dwyer, Knocklong, rendered in a good quality voice three popular songs that merited rounds of applause and the other vocalists who received a similar reception were: Mr. John Quinn, Kilgarrif, and John and Mary O'Brien, Griston. Mr. Michael Osborne gave some splendid selections on the accordian.

Winners at Ballintubber.

Those who won at the Ballintubber turkey drive last Sunday were:—Messrs. Tom Lee, Jack Neville, P. Wallace, Ballintubber; Mrs. Fenton, Griston; J. J. Davern, C. Upton, Ballylanders; Tom Connell, James O'Dwyer and James Lee, Ballintubber, and Michael Moore, Rappala.

OBITUARY

MISS BODKIN-KENNEDY.

The interment took place on Friday in the family vault in the grounds of St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, of Mrs. Celia Bodkin-Kennedy, a member of an old Limerick Catholic family, who moved to Cork some years ago. She was a daughter of the late Mr. Richard Bodkin-Kennedy, who resided in Thomas Street up to the time he left the city over 20 years ago. The prayers at the interment were recited by Rev. P. Cahalane, C.C., St. Finbar's, Cork.

The funeral was private.
