EAT MORE OATMEAL.

meal is nourishing, inexpensive, first-rate as a food for children. Give them, not only in porridge but also biscuits and cakes, and don't forget chicken soups and sauces with the variety instead of with flour.

is a recipe for cheap and whole-oatcakes. You will want a breakfastful of oatmeal and one of flour, a tablespoonful of sugar, and a spoonful of bicarbonate of soda. Melt a tablespoonful of dripping, mix it with the dry ingredients, and add a egg yolk, with a little water. When mixed, roll out thin on a floured board and cut into rounds. Place the s on a flat tin and bake quickly.

Scottish oatcakes only a small portion of flour is used, and this for binding, as cakes made of oatmeal are inclined to be brittle. From two to three ounces of flour to a pound of oatmeal will be sufficient, and add a little salt when baking. Mould the meal and flour together with water and roll it on a meal scones can be made from cold porridge. Knead in as much flour as is needed to enable the porridge to be rolled out to about three-quarters of an inch thick, cut it into shapes and bake for about 20 minutes. The scones are served hot, split and buttered, or with dripping, which the children will

Cut into shapes, lay them on a shelf in the oven, which should be hot, and cook for about an hour. Place the cakes in an air-tight receptacle. They are good eaten with cheese or butter.

Oatmeal Pudding you require 1½ pints of milk. Mix a little of it with a teaspoonful of flour and a tablespoonful of oatmeal. Boil the rest of the milk, stir in the oatmeal mixture and add salt, and boil for five minutes, stirring all the time. Remove from the heat and stand aside for a few minutes and then stir in a beaten egg. Turn the mixture into a buttered fireproof dish and bake in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Biscuits mix ½ lb. of medium oatmeal with ½ lb. of flour, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda. Melt 2 ozs. of margarine in three tablespoonsful of warm milk, and pour into the oatmeal mixture to form a paste. Set it aside to get firm, roll out into biscuit shapes, prick them and bake in a brisk oven for about six minutes. If you like sweet biscuits, add one to two ounces of castor sugar to the flour.

was decided to appoint a secretary at the next meeting of the Council.

Correspondence

Mr. O'Shaughnessy read correspondence from Mr. Berkery, County Commissioner, and Mr. McNally, Regional Commissioner, on the urgent and pressing necessity for increased cultivation of wheat, potatoes, oats, barley and beet.

Views of Dr. Barrett

Dr. Barrett said that the growing of increased supplies of wheat, oats, barley and potatoes was of the most importance to the people; all others were only secondary.

Disappointment

Disappointment was expressed at the small number who applied for plots in answer to the posters which had been put up in various places in the parish. It was decided to renew the offer of allotments, applications to be dealt with at the next meeting.

Thanks Returned

Mr. Patrick Morgan proposed a vote of thanks, which was seconded unanimously, to Mr. T. F. Ryan, Co. Surveyor, and his assistant, Mr. J. J. O'Leary, for their promptness in having the footpaths of the town repaired. The hope was expressed that other necessary works, if the money were available, be also carried out. Canon O'Carroll said it was a pity that repairs of the Pier have not been executed.

Recent Wedding

The marriage of Mr. John Fuerty, Glenagragra, Glin, and Miss Mary O'Connor, Furrarrie, Glin, took place at Glin Parish Church during the week. Very Rev. Canon O'Carroll, P.P., performed the ceremony.

Congratulations

Their many relatives and friends offer sincere congratulations to Miss Mary Fitzgerald, youngest daughter of the late Patrick J. Fitzgerald, J.P., Cahala, and to Mr. William Fitzgerald, youngest son of the late Mr. Michael Fitzgerald, auctioneer, Glin, on their recent wedding.

Regretted Death

The death, at an advanced age, of Mrs. Ellen O'Shaughnessy, Clogough, Glin, a member of an old Glin family, occasioned deep regret. The funeral to Killergus Cemetery was extremely large. Very Rev. Canon O'Carroll, P.P., and Rev. Father McCarthy, C.C., officiated.

Popular Figure

The death, in middle life, of Mr. John J. Fitzgerald-Dore, which took place at the residence of his brother at Ballysteen House, Kilcolman, came as a shock to his family and numerous relatives. Deceased, who was a bank official, was son of the late Mr. Michael J. Dore.

The Obsequies

Very Rev. Canon Fitzgerald, P.P.; Rev. Father McMahon, Kilcolman; Very Rev. Canon O'Carroll, P.P.; and Rev. Father McCarthy, C.C., Glin, officiated at the Parish Church grounds, Glin, the family burial place. The funeral was large and representative.

cined to agree with extent. The big man were honest, but they were always anxious obligations. The County Council with was not very happy advanced £10,000 to pay and £7,000 of that amount.

Accountant—And been paid in interest to be recovered.

Mr. Canty said the money was voted away for public schemes and about it. Mr. Twomey, Department of Agriculture, loans advanced under scheme had been repaid.

Secretary—About 900

Senator Madden said in mind that the value Limerick was in the market and also the suitability of County Limerick to receive these loans if the bonds were obtained. Where did he get the bonds? It was now known the price was advanced.

Chairman—What about it in the Seanad?

Senator Madden—I have to put some questions there.

Chairman—Cannot the Minister to keep the price within reason?

Senator Madden—Not so far.

"BECOMING"

Mr. Canty—The see becoming a ramp.

Senator Madden—I am told that wheat now being re-sown was sold originally at 10/- per bushel which was a good price. Is something wrong with the loan question requiring consideration, because if money is given without taking certain considerations, the scheme will not succeed.

Mr. McCarthy said that the farmer was honest, but if money was given to him it would be an incentive to people to take more land than could usefully employ.

Secretary—If more land is taken it will not be to the benefit of the many.

The Chairman observed in mind that the scheme intended as a help. It is true that if advances of £10,000 per acre were given, some of the land could be put in the ground and good flour.

Secretary—When the scheme was in operation some parties never took bags but brought the
