

membership. The question of a boat club was raised a couple of years ago. It was very important to have it, because the old St. Michael's Boat Club and the various generations of members who came on won many laurels, and their colours were well known not only on their home waters but at many other regattas around the country. He was delighted that they had brought their present project to a successful conclusion, and that they had been able to overcome the difficulties which had faced them. He congratulated the Temperance Society and the Boat Club on having such fine premises, and hoped that there would be a happy future before them. He did not know what the prospects were this season for the regattas. Outside the country times were sad and serious and filled with trouble, and it was a pleasure to come to take part in a celebration like this, which spoke of happiness and a regard for all the things that went to make people peaceful. He expressed his great happiness in the final culmination of the project, and in being present to bless the club and the boats. He hoped that the members had a prosperous time before them, and that the present was only the beginning. "Remember," said his Lordship, "that you have the reputation of this club in your hands, and take care that you will keep it up and at least equal if not go beyond, those who preceded you in the past."

Mr. J. White, vice-president of the club, said that on behalf of the members of St. Michael's Rowing Club, he wished to be associated with the remarks of their reverend president in his words of thanks to his Lordship. He also wished to thank Dr. Cowper, who had been a tower of strength to the committee in putting forward this project. He also thanked Mr. Jack Glazer. He had organised the "head of the river" race, and everyone who had attended the opening ceremony. He concluded with a special tribute to the Ladies' Committee, which had done a fine lot of work.

Owing to the unfavourable weather conditions the "Head of the River" Race which was to have been held on Saturday evening was postponed until to-morrow evening at 9.30.

fallen into disrepair, with the result that the citizens have been deprived of a really charming walk. It is stated that a ten-pound-note would restore the bridge, but the civic authority cannot be induced to "part" on the ground that the span is or was private property. That may be technically correct, but it should not be forgotten that the bridge is required for public use. Without it one of the pleasantest walks in the Limerick area cannot be availed of. We hear a good deal about amenities, but what about the Mill Bridge?

SHOTS FIRED

AT POLICEMAN IN ENGLAND

A search continued to-day for a man in the uniform of a Scottish regiment officer who fired shots at a policeman on Saturday night near Bletchley, Bucks. The Home Guards and regular soldiers are assisting the police.

During the hunt a girl passenger in a car driven by Mr. Reg Jackson, of New Bradwell, was wounded following the firing of a rifle by a Home Guard. The girl is Jane Strittles, aged 20, of New Bradwell, Wolverton.
