

EARLY SIGNS smunges, tiny shooting pains, stiffs in the joints, muscles tender der pressure.

LEADING TO lum-to, sciatica, neuritis, muscular umatism, joint pains, gouty ns, continuous rheumatic pain eading. If you have stiffness or n which shows the presence of umatic acids go to your chemist get a tin of Fynnon Salt NOW.

NEW! 7½d. Trial Size
one for someone suffering.

Fynnon Salt

MADDY

Whisky of ity held h esteem ell over rs.

of glass were shattered. The occurrence is being investigated.

KILMEEDY NOTES

(From Our Correspondent).

Grouse Shooting.

All those interested in the better preservation of grouse will be pleased to learn that grouse were most plentiful in many areas on the opening day, August 11th. The intensive turf-cutting has frightened the birds away from many of their usual haunts to quiet hillsides where the slanesmen have not penetrated. Amateurs who knocked down an occasional game bird with an air rifle will have a lean time, as there is a pronounced shortage of slugs and pellets. Game are much harassed in many districts by adults with .22 rifles, who, regardless of the season, play much havoc with all classes of game. At the time of writing I have not recorded any report from my Castle-town sporting friends. Perhaps their places are filled by members of the younger generation.

Shortage of Cartridges.

Farmers are experiencing an anxious time to protect their crops from vermin owing to shortage of cartridges. It is not easy to understand how this occurs.

Recent Deaths.

The death occurred during the week-end of Mr. Ned Walsh, Garbally, Kilmeedy, in his 58th year. His funeral, from the Catholic Church, Feohenagh, to Dromcollogher was well attended.—R.I.P.

The death is also recorded of Mr. Michael Gaffney, Gortalassa, Feenagh. The interment took place at Kilmeedy and the funeral was of large dimensions.—R.I.P.

Turf.

It is regrettable that the Kilmeedy district was lacking in a Parish Council in common with the surrounding parishes. However, the inhabitants must now make the best of it and provide turf for a possible hard, cold winter, in addition to some local timber. Dogs of indomitable courage will be indispensable to those who are not fortunate to be provided with storage accommodation.

Feast of the Assumption.

At 10.30 Mass at Kilmeedy on Friday, 15th August (Feast of the Assumption), a very eloquent sermons resulted in a win for A. J. Dorney. The raffle for 3 lbs. of was won by ticket number 146.

Drill Display.

A fine drill practice was given by St. Joseph's band, who also tributed selections during the afternoon. Teas were served by members of the Red Cross Branch under the supervision of Miss Moore, the very popular secretary and the castle staff assisted. The fete proved a most successful one from every point of view, and members of the organisation are to be congratulated, as well as Miss O'Carroll, secretary. Amongst those present were the Knight of Madam Fitzgerald, Lord Musk Major and the Miss Leslies, Mrs. Roycroft.

KILLALOE NOTES

(From Our Correspondent)

Local Market.

Potatoes, realised 8d. per cwt. at the Killaloe market on Tuesday last.

Wheat Crop.

There is scarcely a farmer in Killaloe to Whitegate who has a small crop of wheat, which is looking exceptionally well and unaffected by the inclement weather. The crops are gradually ripening and good results are expected.

Turf.

The lack of petrol has considerably militated against the bringing of turf in this district. There is much demand for turf in carries but the want of petrol is the great drawback.

Perch Fishing.

In comparison with 10 years the catches are small, but due to the cold, inclement weather.

Mushrooms.

A few weeks ago there was promising growth, but since then, due no doubt to weather conditions, the mushroom has disappeared from our midst.

Fruit.

The fruit crop is not up to expectations here. Apples are scarcer than in the past year.

A sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by Rev. Fr. O'Dea, C.C.