Roserea.—Dublin Win by 2 Points.

A two points victory often figures in our big games. Galway deserves great credit for running Dublin so close in last Sunday's semi-final. We cannot take Dublin's narrow win nor Cork's majority as a criterion for the All-Ire and final. Like Cork at home, Dublin at Croke Park will be worth a few more points, so the Leosiders need not, nor will they, judge the issue on the results of the semi-finals.

KILDIMO GAELS' TRIBUTE

On Saturday last, September 13th, the people of Kildimo suffered a shock of unusual severity when it became known that Jack O'Shea had passed to his reward. His illness was a brief one and the recovery we all so ardently hoped for was confidently expected. However, it was not to be and it now remains for us who knew and loved him to accept God's Holy Will with the same spirit of resignation that his grief-stricken family and relatives have shown.

"Jackie" was the babe of the team that brought Kildimo to the forefront of senior hurling in recent years and his prowess on the Gaelic arena gained him a wide reputation. On the field he never lost that natural simplicity and sincerity of character that won every heart that came into contact with him. Thus it was that the immense proportions of his funeral were such as had never been witnessed in the locality. Thus it was, too, that when his club-mates and comrades bore him on their shoulders to his last resting place their's was no ordinary sorrow, but one that time would not soon heal. And when they had laid him down and recited the Rosary at his graveside they knew that they were bidding a last farewell to one whose like would not be amongst them again.
