

man Lower, Glin was charged with the alleged larceny of one pair of boots, one pair of socks, and 2 lbs. of soap, the property of Mrs. Mary A. O'Shaughnessy, Loughill, and value for £1 2s., was mentioned.

Mr. R. J. Cussen, solr. (defending), asked the Justice to hold that the case had not been proven on the grounds that there were weak points in the State case.

Supt. Mulcahy said the defendant told Sergeant McKeown that she took the parcels off the cart in Adams's yard, in Glin, and put them beside a barrel. That in itself was larceny.

Mr. Cussen said that in the course of her work defendant took the cart out of Adams's yard every morning and evening to go milking. Miss O'Shaughnessy came along and put the parcel on the cart with a view to having it sent home later. Defendant came along and took the parcels off and put them on one side. That was all she did, and when somebody went to look for the parcels they had disappeared. The foolishness of the owner of the parcels in doing what she did was responsible for what happened.

Justice—I believe she took the parcels, but I don't know whether the evidence would justify a conviction. I will dismiss the charge.

AIMS OF THE G.A.A.

Mr. P. McNamee, President of the G.A.A., speaking at a ceilidhe in Carrickmacross, under the auspices of Monaghan Co. Board, said that the Association stood for more than the playing of Gaelic games. It stood for Irish nationality, of which the games were but one phase. Cusack's aim was not to see 70,000 people watch thirty players at Croke Park, but to see the games played.

LIMERICK HUNT DANCE

The attendance at the annual Limerick Hunt dance at Adare was large and representative of hunting and racing interests in Munster and Leinster. The function was voted one of the most enjoyable of its kind for many years. For the event a number of visitors from Dublin and district were the guests of Lord and Lady Adare at Kilgobbin.

is not, as the saying goes, a bird alone in complaining as to the condition of large quantities of turf.

THOMOND SHIELD.

The Thomond Feis Shield has gone from Limerick to the Rebel County. Yesterday at the Gaelic Grounds, Cork defeated Tipperary in decisive fashion in the final for the trophy. The result came as a big surprise, for just a fortnight ago the position was reversed when Tipperary outclassed Cork for the Munster Championship. But such are the fortunes of the game and no true sportsman will grudge the Corkonians their victory. Limerick were the holders of the Shield, but our side went under to Cork in the first round of the competition and next year, perhaps, we will be an top again!

BIG SUM UNDER SEAT

A sum of £430—two £100 notes and twenty-three £10 notes—was found under a railway carriage seat between Fleetwood and Kirkham (Lancs.). Some of the notes are said to bear numbers corresponding to those which disappeared when a Blackpool woman lost a bag containing £800 in Blackpool market in July, 1939.
