
Found Alongside His Cycle

Labourer's Sad Death

James Mahony (55), married, a labourer, of Newtownsandes, North Kerry, was found dead beside his bicycle on the roadside near his home on Monday morning at 3 a.m. He was returning from a neighbour's house, and evidently died suddenly. Death from cardiac failure was the verdict returned at an inquest conducted by Dr McGuire, coroner, at the home of the deceased.
