

Death of Miss M. Whelan

Much sympathy is extended to the members of her highly-esteemed family on the death of Miss Mary Whelan, newsagent, Wolfe Tone street, which occurred at her residence, Celtic Ville, O'Connell Avenue, after a rather protracted illness borne with true Christian fortitude. Deceased was the possessor of a very gentle and charming disposition, which endeared her to a large circle of friends. She was daughter of the late Mr Wm. Whelan, who represented the Dock Ward as a member of the first Labour Party in the Limerick Corporation in 1889, and for many years subsequently, and was sister to our popular fellow-citizens, Messrs Patrick, John and David Whelan.

The funeral to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery this evening was a big tribute from the citizens of sympathy and respect, attended by the Mayor (Ald. D Bourke, T.D.), and the members of the Corporation and National bodies, with all classes and creeds.
