

Death of Mr D. Naughton

It is with feelings of the most sincere regret that we record the death of Mr David Naughton, which occurred at his residence, Ballysteen, Askeaton, on Sunday last.

Deceased gentleman was one of the best beloved and most outstanding figures in West Limerick for many years. He had been a member of the Limerick Co. Council during the Anglo Irish war, and for some years afterwards, when he retired from public life, much to the regret of the people whom he and his uncle before him, the late Mr Michael Naughton, represented so ably and well. Needless to say, deceased was a staunch Nationalist—a great big-hearted Irishman in every sense of the word, a man of the highest integrity whose word was his bond in his every dealing, one whose fine presence will be sadly missed for many a year to come.

The funeral from Ballysteen Church to the family burial ground on Tuesday last was attended by thousands from far and near, anxious to pay the last earthly tribute to the memory of a thorough gentleman—one who was truly Irish of the Irish and kindest of the kind.

To his bereaved widow and family we wish to tender our deep and very sincere sympathy in their great loss.
