

Popular Clare Co. Councillor

Death of Mr. David Neylon.

We deeply regret to record the death, which occurred at his residence, Drumlish, Inagh, Co. Clare, on Tuesday last of Mr David Neylon, esq., after a somewhat protracted illness. The late Mr Neylon was a deservedly popular member of Clare County Council since 1925, and for some years past was Vice Chairman of the Mental Hospital Committee. He was the happy possessor of a genial, kindly disposition, and his unobtrusive manner won him a host of friends. He was a man of the highest probity, a staunch Catholic, and a single-minded patriot, who gave unselfish devotion to his country. He will be sadly missed by his family, his colleagues and a very wide circle of friends.

His funeral to Inagh Cemetery on Thursday was of huge proportions—a remarkable tribute from the people he served so faithfully and well.