

an earth rain at Askeaton. Finding, this closed, the fox made for the shore. It was now down wind, but pace did not falter. Leaving Toomdeely on his left, the fox made for O'Dell's, crossing into the biggest wall country in County Limerick. The bounds wall out of Toomdeely had to be negotiated, and after that there was scarcely a wall less than four to six feet. But the pace was too great to look at them, and everyone got over. Hounds raced on past Kelly's Gorse, where there was a welcome check, and here the fox had got in after a gallop of seven miles as hounds ran and over a glorious country. A good hunt after a hare concluded a great day.

BARRINGTON'S BANK.

The reconstruction of Barrington's embankment is not to be undertaken by the Corporation because it is private property. The Law Adviser, Mr. J. J. Dundon, in a special report to the City Manager, states that it would be illegal to expend public monies on private property. The City Surveyor (Mr. C. Stenson, B.E.) also reported that it would cost £10,000 to reconstruct the embankment so as to provide a passageway ten feet wide, treated with tarmac. The hope is entertained, however, that the embankment will, in the course of time, be taken over by the Board of Works.
