

(Lismore), J. Mountain (Dungarvan), M. Landers (do.), J. Keane (Mt. Sion), P. Dowling (do.), M. Hickey and P. Campbell (Portlaw), W. Barron (Dungarvan), D. Good (do.), D. Power (Portlaw), D. Galvin (do.), P. Daly (Dungarvan), J. Duggan (Lismore).

In the original selection C. Moylan (Dungarvan) filled the centre forward position but has been replaced by P. Daly (Dungarvan), who occupied D. Good's place as full forward, the latter moving back to Moylan's berth.

FOYNES AIRPORT STAFF

Mr. S. McWilliams, B.Sc., a native of Derry, and Mr. M. Herlihy, a Corkman, members of the Meteorological Staff at the Airport, Foynes, have been transferred to Collins-town, Dublin. Both were closely identified with the organisation of the Shannon Airport Social Club. Mr. Herlihy was recently elected secretary at the annual general meeting. This office has now been filled by Mr. G. McCudden. Mr. McWilliams was one of the foundation members of the club, and on the committee up to the time of his departure.

RARE MANUSCRIPT

The Department of External Affairs has asked the Irish Minister to the Vatican to obtain photographs of a rare manuscript in Irish and Latin dealing with the life of St. Patrick. The manuscript, which is at Novara, in Northern Italy, was written by Muirchu, an eighth century Irish writer.

PUBLICAN FINED £50

At Ballyhaunis District Court, Nora McGillicuddy, Knox Street, Ballyhaunis, was fined £50 for carrying on business without having previously paid the licence duty. A similar prosecution against Bridget Durcan, Clare Road, Ballyhaunis, was adjourned for a month.

Michael's Church was of huge proportions, testifying in a very striking way as to the popularity of the deceased.

The chief mourners were:—Mrs. A. Nestor (widow), Liah, Olive, Geraldine (daughters), Gussie, Bertie, Derrick, Joe, Niall and Louie (sons), Harry Nestor (brother), Lottie Nestor, May Geraghty and Aggie Broderick (sisters), Claire, Eileen, Frances and Hilda Broderick (nieces), Arthur and Noel Broderick and Dr. C. C. Geraghty (nephews), Mrs. Lannin, Cork; Mrs. Troy, Mrs. Corry (sisters-in-law), Mr. P. J. Cusack (father-in-law), Mr. J. Lannin, Cork (brother-in-law); Comdt. G. Lane, Mrs. Cusack, Michael, Cyril and Reggie Cusack (relatives).

DEATH OF MR. J. E. TOPPIN

The death occurred on Saturday at his residence, Willmount, Limerick, of Mr. John E. Toppin, eldest son of the late Mr. Philip Toppin, who was managing-director for many years of Messrs. Cannock and Co., Ltd. The deceased himself was in early manhood associated with Messrs. Cannock, but on the death of his brother, Philip, in 1914, he took over the Shannon Laundry in partnership with his brother, Arthur. This concern is to-day a very progressive undertaking, largely through the energy and business acumen of the deceased. He was a life-long member of Trinity Church, the P.Y.M.A., and the Limerick Boat Club.

LESS LIGHT IN DUBLIN

Public lighting in Dublin is now reduced to about one-eighth of its pre-war volume. Many of the city's 9,000 electric lamps will not shine again until some time in September. In the suburbs lamps will be lighted only on the main routes and will be extinguished at midnight. City lights will also go out at midnight, except those in the main streets.

a man of admirable will grow up in atmosphere, be kept harm's way and get and a training that priceless benefit to through life. The scout almost invariably comes a good citizen and is in general a c an asset to the coun

* *
*

The Bishop summed value of the Catholic movement in a few comprehensive sentences. "The aim of the organization," he said, "was to make better and give him of manliness. The scouting enshrined was opposed to mean be a good scout mean truthful, open and These Christian virtues their practice were by the organization scouts." Assuredly the ment of which all the said is one that should a special appeal to and to all who have fare and real interest country at heart.