NERVES STEADIED GREAT RELIEF SLEEPS LIKE A TOP FROM HEADACHES

Dear Sirs, I have ever express my gratitude to you for the benefits 'ASPRO' has given me! After a long 'lay-off' from active 'ASPRO' I have done more to steady my nerves than anything and I have tried hundreds of so-called 'benefits' on the market. I may add that at night I am never without my 'ASPRO' result is I 'sleep like a top.' Hoping the sales of 'ASPRO' increase tenfold and wishing you the very best of luck. I remain, Yours faithfully, MAURICE ATKINSON.

Dear Sirs, Having read several testimonials of users of 'ASPRO' I tried them myself as I had several headaches and glad to state they gave me great relief with the result that I will recommend them to anyone who suffers from same. Yours truly, JOHN J. FLAHERTY.

Dear Sirs, I must write these few lines. I had a very bad leg, an attack of sciatica and found great relief in taking 'ASPRO' according to the directions. I am a lot better and my nerves are well again. Yours, F. HEATH (Mrs.)

Dear Sirs, I feel I must write and thank you for the instant relief I have obtained from your 'ASPRO' tablets. I had a very heavy cold and such pains across my shoulders that I could hardly move a muscle in my body (let alone work). My wife put me a packet of 'ASPRO' tablets. I took some of them and went to bed. And to my surprise the pain was greatly eased, the cold in the head gone. I took the remainder the next night and now I am back at work again. So thanking you and wishing your goods a better and larger sale. I am, Yours gratefully, LEONARD WALKER.

CAMOGIE

Local Matches TWO INTERESTING CONTESTS

Last evening at Lisnagry two first round Camogie League games were played before a large gathering of spectators. The two county teams, Castleconnell and Ahane, emerged victorious over the two city teams, St. Munchin's and Clann na h-Eireann, respectively. In the opening clash, Castleconnell Shamrocks defeated St. Munchin's on the score of 4-1 to 1-0. This was a hard fought game, brilliant hurrying being the order. St. Munchin's owe their defeat to the weakness of their forwards, who lost many scoring chances, while the Castleconnell girls made every opportunity count in this direction. At the interval, Castleconnell led by 2 goals to nil.

SECOND HALF The second half was strenuously fought out with both sides attacking in turn and the county girls added 2 goals and a point to the city girls' one goal. St. Munchin's forwards lost many scores in this period and the margin might have been narrower if they availed of their opportunities.

The winners were best served by Misses M. Mackey, C. McMahon, P. Harrigan, D. McCormack and D. Joyce, while the Misses C. Casey, E. Hayes, I. Connerly, J. Ryan and A. Meehan were best for the losers. Mr. E. Brown refereed.

AHANE'S WIN The second clash was also closely contested and Ahane defeated Clann na h-Eireann by 3 goals to nil. In the opening half play was even and Ahane had a goal after fifteen minutes play. A good city defence kept the Ahane forwards at bay.

The opening stages of the second half saw the city girls storm the Ahane goal, but they failed to break through a stubborn defence. Nearing the end Ahane added two further goals.

Both sides had many good individual exploits who should do well in ensuing games. Mr. D. Givens, refereed.

BOARD MEETING A meeting of the Camogie Board will be held on Tuesday evening next at 9 o'clock at Gaelic League Rooms, Thomas Street, at which second round matches will be fixed. Arrangements will also be made in regard to the inter-county game against Kerry on 19th July, at Newcastle West.

CATTLE EXPORTS

RESTRICTIONS REMOVED Under an Order just made by the British Department of Agriculture the restrictions on the import of store cattle from Eire to Britain and Northern Ireland have been relaxed. Licences will still be required for the importation of milch cows, cows and heifers in calf, and bulls. The restrictions on the import of other classes of cattle will be removed from next Monday, and animals of any age may be exported. There will now, it is expected, be an active demand for good young stock of from sixteen to twenty months old. The announcement, it is stated, will be good news for all small farmers and will relieve them of a good deal of their worries in respect of wintering. There are in the country large numbers of prime young cattle suitable for export.

OBITUARY

MRS. HANORA McGRATH. The funeral of Mrs. Hanora McGrath late of Farran House, Emly, took place on Friday, 5th June, to the family burial ground, Emly, following Office and Solemn Requiem Mass at St. Ailbe's Church.

The celebrant was the Rev. P. A. McGrath, P.P., Bolton, assisted by the Rev. J. O'Donnell, C.C., Ardmanan, as deacon, and the Rev. J. Tynan, C.C., Killinane, as sub-deacon. The Rev. L. O'Brien, Mrs. L. Neville, James and Mrs. O'Mara, John Burke, William O'Dwyer, Michael Burke, Michael McGrath, Joseph Taylor; C. O'Donnell, Pat and Scamus Burke, R. O'Donovan, the Misses K. Taylor, J. O'Dwyer, Clis. Heffernan, Margaret Heffernan, Mrs. Wm. Heffernan (cousins), etc.

The general public included a large circle of friends from Emly and from several Limerick and Tipperary parishes, also representatives of the Old East Limerick and South Tipperary Brigades, I.R.A.

AN APPRECIATION. The death of Mrs. Hanora McGrath, late of Farran House, Emly, has removed one of the outstanding personalities in the national struggle for independence in the South Tipperary and East Limerick areas. Her home, well known for its princely hospitality, became, during these critical days, a veritable guest-house for the soldier and the worker in the cause of Irish freedom. If her door was always open to the poor, the stranger, the casual and the less fortunate, it was doubly open—the literally gave with both hands—to the men who were manning the front line trenches.

Always in the forefront of the national effort, she spared neither time nor energy, nor purse. It was her joy and glory to give of her very best to the cause for which the best and noblest of Ireland's sons had given their all. Throughout the years she never wavered in her allegiance. She saw the goal and went towards it undimly; even when her lovely home went up in flames and every member of her family was either in jail or on the run or on active service, she was still a defiant and unrepentant Republican.

It was not only her deep and sincere national convictions that singled out Mrs. McGrath, but her charming personality as a mother of a large family, a friend, a neighbour and a bearer of others' burdens that stamped her as a remarkable figure in a generation that is fast disappearing.

Mrs. McGrath was above and beyond all the real Irish Catholic mother, to whom "the things that are God's" were paramount. Amidst life's many and varied interests, she never forgot that her religion must always have pride of place. She appreciated to the full the truth that it is given to the few to accomplish great things—that God's Will consists in doing one's daily round of labours, patiently and resignedly. "After all," she used to say, "God's greatest creation was a poor little housewife," and she drew strength and consolation from the thought, and in return for her devotion and fidelity God blessed her by raising two of her sons to serve at His altar. Her house was "a burning and a shining light" to everybody.

It was really as mother in the domestic circle that Mrs. McGrath excelled. Kindly, gentle, unassuming, one never felt unwanted or unwelcome; she epitomized and symbolized all that was best and grandest in Irish traditional hospitality. Right to the end of her long life she preserved that youthfulness of spirit and outlook that enabled her to participate in all the fun and gaieties of her most juvenile guests; in fact, she was never happier than when dispensing hospitality at the head of the table. She could join in that banter and cross-chat, such as can only be appreciated by a gathering of genuine Irish friends.

Her passing leaves us all the poorer. Many of us have lost a great hostess, a great friend, and we have all lost a grand old Catholic lady, R.I.P.

CITY CINEMAS

THE COLISEUM

One of the funniest comedies in recent years, "Road to Zanzibar," comes to Limerick again to play at the Coliseum on Monday next. The stars are Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour and Una Merkel. On Wednesday "She Knew All The Answers" comes to the city after an absence of only two weeks. This welcome return is a comedy of the first rank, and gives us Franchot Tone and Joan Bennett in roles that are ideally suited to their talents.

On Friday comes "Tragedy of Divorce," a grand comedy drama. It is interesting to note that the stars (Joan Blondell and Dick Powell) are married in private life.

THE CARLTON

All next week the Carlton will screen "Wild Geese Calling," starring Henry Fonda, Joan Bennett and Warren William in a picture which is an adaptation of Stewart Edward White's best seller. The dramatic story opens in a lumber camp and tells of how a man's wanderlust brings him to a girl whose influence alters his outlook on life. Others in the cast include Barton MacLane and Osa Munson. The supporting feature, "Too Many Blondes," is a romantic comedy with music, and deals with a pair of newlyweds whose marriage is nearly wrecked through the interference of a friend. Tudy Vallee croons some slow hit tunes, while in support are Helen Parrish, Lon Chaney, Jr., Eddie Quillan, Jerome Cowan and Dorothy Lee, whom picturegoers will recall was the heroine of practically all the Wheeler and Woolsey comedies. A feature of all programmes will be the screening of the latest edition of the Irish Movietone News.

THE LYRIC

Gene Autry is singing star in a Western musical, "Back in the Saddle," to be shown at the Lyric on Monday. The cast also includes such stars as Jacqueline Wells, Mary Lee, Arthur Loft and Addison Richards. In the support twins become involved in business and love. Roscoe Karns plays the part of the identical twins in this, Republic's most recent comedy, "The Gay Vagabond." The film will most definitely appeal to the "domestic comedy" lovers, and features such stars as Ruth Donnelly, popular comedienne of the "Higgins Family" series; Ernest Truex, Margaret Hamilton and Abner Biberman.

Thrilling episodes follow in rapid succession in an absorbing drama, "Hurricane Smith," which will open on Thursday. Ray Middleton and Jane Wyatt have the leading roles, with J. Edward Bromberg, Harry Davenport, Henry Brandon and Frank Darien prominently featured. The sensational story of Texas in the days immediately preceding the American Civil War unfolds itself in Republic's "Robin Hood of the Pecos," which will be showing in support. Roy Rogers is cast as the young Confederate soldier, released from a northern prison at the close of the Civil War, and the cast includes George "Gabby" Hayes and Marjorie Reynolds.

GRAND CENTRAL

On Monday the Grand Central presents "Her First Beau," starring Jane Withers, Jackie Cooper and Edith Fellows. The story is very amusing and the young players act well. The supporting feature is "The Richest Man in Town," starring Frank Craven, Edgar Buchanan and Eileen O'Hearn.

On Thursday the programme changes to "Peg of Old Drury." Based on history, this romance finds its story in the career of Peg Woffington, a young Irishwoman, who started with David Garrick London's stage favour two centuries ago. The period has been brought to life and much of the entertainment lies in the famous figures, literary and artistic, who step from the pages of history. Anna Neagle and Cedric Hardwicke head a splendid cast. The supporting feature is "The Speed Reporter," starring Richard Talmadge and Luana Walters.

THE THOMOND

"Melody and Moonlight" (Mon. and Tues.) is a blending of songs, laughs, gaiety and wit. It tells the story of a penniless bell-hop who wins a society debutante. The stars are Johnny Downs and Barbara Allen. The support features the Three Mesquiteers in "Heroes of the Saddle," and treats of their successful expose of a gang of crooks. "Michael Shayne, Private Detective" (Wednesday and Thursday) is a type of comedy drama involving the daughter of a noble house in a murder mystery coupled with a background of blackmail. Stars: Lloyd Nolan and Marjorie Weaver. "Hudson's Bay" (Friday and Saturday) has a splendid cast with Paul Muni in the chief role. It concerns the story of a French-Canadian fur trapper who is instrumental in persuading Charles II to grant a charter to the Hudson's Bay Company.

THE SAVOY

The eagerly awaited showing of Frank Capra's newest production, "Meet John Doe," will begin on Monday next at the Savoy, starring Gary Cooper, last year's academy award winner, with Barbara Stanwyck. The story is one that has been acclaimed by the critics as one of the greatest yet to reach the screen. The huge cast includes Edward Arnold, Walter Brennan, Spring Byington, James Gleason, Gene Lockhart, Regis Toomey, Warren Hymer and Sterling Holloway. With a cast including Gene puts an end to 12 years Rheumatism

This letter of thanks is from R.J.C.: "As a token showing how grateful I am to you for Fynnon Salt, I would like you to use this true testimonial. I have suffered unbearable pain for the last twelve years. I have cried with the burning pains running through my back and shoulders, having to be dressed on hundreds of occasions. I gave Fynnon Salt a trial for the first time in my life six weeks ago. I now only get Rheumatic pains for about two minutes during the course of a full day at work, which seems to me like a miracle."

Fynnon Salt contains the natural salts of Sodium, Potassium, and Lithium. That's why Fynnon Salt can wash away rheumatic acids, and effect such grand recoveries. Large tin 1/6 at all chemists.
