

NEW LIMERICK SOLICITORS

Mr. Michael B. O'Malley, son of the late Mr. J. O'Malley, B.E., Limerick, and of Mrs. O'Malley, O'Connell Avenue, Limerick, has passed his final examination of the Incorporated Law Society. He is brother of Ald. D. J. O'Malley, solr. (Mayor of Limerick) to whom he was apprenticed. He completed his examinations at N.U.I. Miss Etina McInerney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McInerney, Davis Street, Limerick, has also passed her final examination. She was apprenticed to Mr. T. O'B. Kelly, solr., Limerick.

RE-SALE PRICE OF OATS

The Minister for Agriculture has made an Order fixing the maximum re-sale price of oats purchased from growers at 27/6 per barrel ex store. The Order also requires that any person drying, cleaning, or storing wheat on behalf of specified classes of persons must have obtained the prior consent of the Minister.

THROWN FROM TRAP

When a pony, which she was driving at Cappanahana, bolted, Mrs. Lizzie Keane, Cappanahana, was pitched from the car and seriously injured. Dr. Dwyer, Newport, was on the scene immediately and rendered medical assistance. The injured lady was removed to a city hospital and detained.

daughters in the service of Christ and His Church to every country in the world, from New Zealand to Canada and from Texas to China, stand out in every chapter in the book. With what joy these exiles for Christ would receive at Christmas a gift from a relative or friend in their native parish a copy of Patrick Purcell's "Esther Hanrahan."

This book is assured of a large sale in Patrick Purcell's native parish and throughout Ireland.

The writer of the note knew Patrick Purcell when he was quite a child. He has followed with interest his creditable career as a scholarly graduate of University College, Dublin, an able journalist and a literary critic and adviser in the service of a leading Irish publishing house. He has given us "Hanrahan's Daughter" in his 28th year, in the midst of a very busy life. May his facile pen write many more books that will give us as much pleasure as we have got from reading "Hanrahan's Daughter."
