

Fatal Accident

Adare Man's Death

A young man named Patrick Shoughan, Shanahilly, Adare, died in the Lincolnshire County Infirmary on last Friday following an injury sustained while working at the coal mine at Adare on Wednesday. It appears that the deceased was working as a hauler. While he was pulling a piece of timber across it is believed that he caught his foot in the track. The accident occurred about midnight and he was conveyed to the infirmary on Saturday.