

Circuit Court, in which the cause of action was exactly the same, a decree for £150 had been given against a Trades Union and was confirmed on appeal to the High Court.

Justice—I must hold with Mr. Gaffney, as Mr. Mescall would never have ceased to employ Moloney if he had not been approached by defendants. Accordingly, I will give a decree for £212s., with 10/- expenses.

DEATH OF MISS H. O'BRIEN, LISNAGRY

It is with deepest regret that we chronicle the passing away over the week-end of Miss Helen O'Brien, Lisnagry. Her death at an early age has removed from camogie circles in Limerick one of the best county players. On the camogie field she had distinguished herself with the Ahane Club and her brilliance in wielding the caman earned for her a place on the Limerick team which opposed Tipperary and Cork ladies last year. Limerick camogie is poorer by the loss of such an ardent supporter of the code. To her bereaved family profound sympathy is tendered on their sorrow.

GLASS HOUSES!

British experts are considering schemes for making house walls of hollow glass bricks, which, it is said, will be as strong as concrete. They are also investigating the practicability of manufacturing furniture, utensils, and other domestic articles from glass. Three of the walls of the Glass Technology Department of Sheffield University are of glass bricks, and the London office of a famous firm of glass manufacturers has two walls made entirely of glass.

FARMERS UTILISE SEAWEED

Owing to the scarcity of artificial manure, farmers in South-East Wexford are utilising seaweed as land fertiliser to an unprecedented extent. Upwards of 25 horse carts are engaged daily drawing the seaweed from the beach at Rosslare Harbour, where it is available in abundance.

CEMENT SUPPLY

It is officially announced that, in view of the improvement in the cement manufacturing position, it will not be necessary, from this date, for cement users to obtain a permit or priority certificate, provided the quantity required does not exceed two tons.

"I am resigning from the party. I do not believe in being compelled to vote under a party whip. When I promise a vote, I have never broken my word. My word is my honour."

At a meeting of Fine Gael Executive in Cruise's Hotel on Saturday, the resignation of Mr. Donegan was accepted.

It is understood that Mr. Donegan's name will be submitted at the adjourned convention of the County Limerick Agricultural Party on Saturday next. The convention will select a third candidate for the constituency. Two candidates have already been chosen, Messrs. C. Ryan, Co.C., and P. Fitzsimons, Co.C.

MARRIAGE PRESENTATIONS

To mark the occasion of his marriage, Mr. Richard Woods, a member of the Shannon Airport Wireless staff, at present stationed at Ballygireen, County Clare, was presented by his colleagues with a case of cutlery. Mr. Michael Murtagh, a member of the Foynes Airport Meteorological Staff, who was also recently married, was presented by his colleagues at Foynes, Rhineanna, and Dublin, with a wallet of notes. Both recipients are very popular members of the Shannon Airport staffs.

DIED FROM INJURIES

John Kierney, lorry driver, Knockainey, who was admitted to the County Infirmary on Friday suffering from serious injuries to the head, has died. Deceased met with an accident at Ballyclough Cold Storage Plant, when he was rendered unconscious as a result, it is stated, of his head coming in contact with a revolving pulley wheel.

CORK MAN KILLED

While walking along the railway line near Rathduff Station (Co. Cork) to catch a train for Cork, Patrick Conway (66), single, a carpenter, of Bockhill, Rathduff, was struck by an in-coming train and killed. It was stated that his view was obscured by another train going in the opposite direction.

HAPPY ENDING

A breach of promise suit that came before District Justice Johnson at Dingle Court has had a happy ending. When a considerable amount of evidence had been heard, it was intimated that the parties had decided to get married. "There seems to be nothing wanting now except orange blossoms," said the D.J.

LITURGY

Between five children took part in the Liturgical Mass in St. Mary's Parish, in St. Limerick, yesterday. The children sang the Communion excellently, having been taught by the nuns at various schools.

Rev. Dr. Coyne presided at the children's Mass, which was explained in English. The underlying intention of the liturgical Mass is to enable the children to participate in the Mass instead of being spectators. He stated that there will be a children's Mass (beginning on the 1st of February) at which the Proper, as well as the Mass, will be sung.

He thanked the children attending in St. Mary's, and also the nuns of the various schools training them.

An Irish hymn was sung at the end of Mass, and the Mass were received by Rev. J. White, C.C., and the national anthem.

CHURCH

"Church for the people" is an unusual advertisement in the newspaper. The advertisement, which forms part of a Catholic religious campaign, is known as Killderry. For several years it has been closed to the completion of the St. Mary's, and the Rev. J. Killderry is the author of it. It can be whole or part.

BACON

The Pigs and Bacon has increased in price. Wholesalers are getting 33 1-3 per cent. per cent. in February.
