Ahane-Castleconnell.

I am well aware that the champions have had such a monopoly of county victories these late years that there is an amount of dissatisfaction prevailing. The prevalent feeling is, what is the use of going to a game when Ahane is going to win? No matter how much we admire these hurlers from the north-east corner of our county, who have certainly done so much for the honour of our old county during the past decade, we would all wish to see the honours go around. Now I can show that Willie Naughton's motion would not be any cure for the present rather dissatisfying results to some Gaels, as I am well aware that some All-Ireland hurlers from the very borders of our county have wished to join Ahane if they could legally do so. Had we not that experience nearer home? Can we not have other parishes brought back to their old records — Cappamore, Pallas, Caherline, Murroe, etc., and so with the West and South? I hope to go into parish work next week.

Ahane v. Barrs.

These champion teams are to meet at our grounds at an early date. Mick Gibbons's phone to Sean Og Murphy pays a compliment to those players when he stated these clubs clashing would be more attractive than county selections. Rather a strong argument, this official opinion, in favour of parishes against counties.

Sean Treacy Park, Tipperary.

The 7th and 1st Brigade hurlers and footballers meet at the Sean Treacy Park, Tipperary, on next Sunday to decide the semi-finals of their championships in those codes. The football teams include a galaxy of stars. In the 1st Brigade team will be featured such brilliant players as Lieut. Eamon Young (Munster and Cork), Lieut. Croghan and Pte. Lambe (Tipperary), Pte. O'Shea (Dublin and Tipp.), Lieut. Minogue (Cork), Sergt. Ryan (Kildare), Corpl. Lar Moran (Carlow). The 7th Brigade includes Lieut. Simon Deignan (Cavan), Pte. Falvey (Munster and Kerry), Corpl. McHugh (Clare), Corpl. Casey (Cork), Lieuts. O'Neill and Cotter (Cork), Sergt. Brosnan and Pte. Finucane (Kerry), Corpl. Currins (Lacighis), Lieut. Plunkett (Longford).

The Hurling Team.

The 7th Brigade hurling team in-

Donna Reed are featured. Richard Allen, Jean Parker, Mary Carlisle, Philip Terry and Dick Purcell are the featured players in Wednesday's attraction, "Torpedo Boat," Paramount's drama of the dive bombers of the sea. The supporting feature, "Who is Hope Schuyler?" is an exciting mystery thriller with an interesting cast. Featured players include Joseph Allen, Jr.; Mary Howard, Sheila Ryan, producer-actor-writer Ricardo Cortez, Joan Valerie, Rose Hobart, Robert Lowery and Paul Guilfoyle. On Friday, the programme changes to "My Song For You," a delightful musical romance, starring the famous Polish tenor, Jan Kiepura. Many lovely songs abound in this beautiful film, the cast of which includes Emlyn Williams, Sonnie Hale, Gino Malo and the late Miss Aileen Marson.

UNEXPECTED DEATH

The unexpected death in the prime of life of Mr. John McMahon, Tullyleague, Glin, caused a great shock on Monday morning to his family and to Glin people generally, by whom he was held in the highest esteem (writes our Glin correspondent). Deceased, while engaged in milking his cows, took ill and died immediately. Dr. J. T. Barrett, M.O., who was quickly in attendance, certified that death was due to natural causes. Spiritual aid was also quickly administered. This is the second unexpected death in his family; his son, in his early twenties, passed away some months ago. Greatest sympathy is offered to his bereaved wife and daughters.

cludes such well-known figures in the hurling world as Corpl. Mick Mackey (Ahane), Corpl. Charlie Tobin (Glen Rovers), Commdt. Jim Cooney (Tipperary), Sergt. O'Grady (Clare), Pte. T. Hayes (Young Ireland), son of the famous Tom Hayes, of the old Young Ireland team (Limerick). The 1st Brigade team is composed of hurlers from Kilkenny, Cork, Tipperary and Waterford, including county players such as Lieut. Gibbons (Leinster Colleges), Pte. Fennelly (Inter-County Junior, Kilkenny), Trooper Farrell (goal), Pte. Quilty (Kilmallock), Trooper Crowley (St. Finbarrs, Cork), Corpl. Murphy (Dungarvan), etc. Both games will be refereed by Sergt. McMahon (Eastern Command). Bands will
