

SCHOOLBOYS BREAK WINDOWS

If these lads are up before me again for this type of offence I will send them to a reformatory," said District Justice Flood, B.L., at Pallasgreen Court, when two schoolboys were charged with maliciously breaking windows in a house.

Supt. Dunning, prosecuting, said that the boys were on their way home from school when they fired stones at a house, breaking the windows. There was a third boy with them and he tried to stop them, but without avail.

After making the statement given above, the Justice ordered each defendant to pay a fine of 1/-, with 14/- compensation each.

The Villa fought valiantly throughout, though the result, judging by the half-time score (3-0), gave them no chance whatsoever.

Their nearest attempts to scoring were a free by Harris, which forcibly cannoned off the cross-bar, and a bullet-like penalty kick which was excellently tipped over the woodwork by goalie O'Connor. Luby got the last goal for the winners. Besides the outstanding captain's example which Cowhey rendered to his side, they had very good players also in O'Connor (goal), Luby and O'Grady. B. Nealon was very prominent, too, and, as I have said previously, is a first-class juvenile right-winger. The losers' shining lights were Harris and Mulqueen. Lieut. Joe O'Sullivan was a most competent referee.

A challenge prior to the final was provided by the 12th Battalion and Star Rovers, and a 1-1 draw resulted. It is difficult to sum up the prospects of both sides, as they were minus several of their regular players. This was the first appearance of the "12th" in Limerick City, and it is to be hoped that more of them will be seen in the future by the other junior sides, like Rovers, facilitating them.

Wembley Rovers are journeying out to Castleconnell to-morrow to oppose the 12th Batt. at the Sports Field and it should be a good test of ability for the men in green. Wembley's action in helping to "cheer up" their soldier friends' recreative hours is praiseworthy.

a scheme which has all the essentials to commend it. Limerick is a city with a future, and all who have given any thought to what post-war changes will bring are at one on the fact that our city is bound to play a big part in future developments. Therefore, the erection of our new municipal buildings and Courthouse should be approached with a proper outlook for the future of the city. What is now nothing better than an eyesore can, with civic courage and acumen, be made the site of a magnificent block of buildings, which will, while in course of construction, give much-needed employment, and when finished add considerably to the business prosperity of the city.

The following were appointed to wait on the City Manager, and the Secretary was instructed to write the Manager requesting a date to receive same:—Messrs. T. J. Loughrey (chairman), J. J. Downes (vice-chairman), M. P. Riordan and E. Quin.

SUCCESSFUL ARTISTE

Soubrette, singer, actress and winner of beauty competition in 1939. dark-haired smiling-eyed Carmen Fielding, who is appearing at the Savoy in "Something In The Air," has received an offer to appear in a London production. Educated in St. Philomena's College, Devonshire, she subsequently studied in the Abbey School of Acting, played in musical comedy and, appropriately, blossomed into front rank in the Dublin Musical Society's production of "Blossom Time," in which she scored a distinct success. With all the buoyancy of her twenty years, Carmen speaks enthusiastically of her art, and though Dublin and Cork critics have hailed her, she has not let her successes go to her head. She has a number of relatives in Limerick, and her brother, Edward, is an actor in Hollywood. A little bird whispers that Carmen may join him when conditions become normal again.
