LEGAL BATTLE FOR O'DEA FORTUNE

Final negotiations in the legal battle over a fortune of over a million pounds left by Timothy Francis O'Dea, Chicago lawyer, oil-well owner and millionaire, are now taking place, and the Irish claimants are hopeful that the money will shortly be transferred to this country. O'Dea died intestate in 1938, and, out of 670 claimants in Ireland and America, the sole claimants now are his first cousins—Mrs. Bridget Woulfe, O'Brien's Bridge; Mrs. Maria McCarthy, Catherine Street, Limerick, and the children of the late James Lynch, Moygalla, Sixmilebridge, who died since the inquiry started. Mrs. Woulfe and Mrs. McCarthy are widows, each over 80 years of age, the former being mother of Mr. P. Woulfe, Dungarvan, and of Mrs. M. Nolan, wife of Guard Nolan, Kildorrery, Co. Cork.

DIED WORKING AT QUARRY

A verdict of death from natural causes was returned at the inquest on Friday on Michael O'Halloran (60), a small farmer residing in the Quin district, Co. Clare. Deceased went to work as usual at a quarry at Finana, where he was employed by the Clare County Council. He was filling a cart with stones and had only used his shovel a few times when he complained of "a reeling" in his head. He sat down to rest and expired almost immediately. Deceased was married and leaves a family of two.

CLARE OFFICIAL CENSURED

When censuring Mr. P. Hegarty, clerk in the Co. Surveyor's office, Clare, for absenting himself without permission for a full day on December 6th, 1943, Mr. D. O'Keeffe, Co. Manager, directed that one day's pay be deducted from his salary, and that he be officially warned that a repetition of such conduct will result in his suspension.

NUN BEREAVED

Sister Ursula, of the Mercy Order, Limerick, is bereaved by the death of her brother, Mr. John Francis Hartnett, 5 Lansdowne Terrace, Ballsbridge, whose interment took place in Glasnevin Cemetery on Saturday. Deceased, who is survived by his wife and seven sons, was an official of the Department of Customs and Excise.

FOUND DEAD IN CHAIR

The wife and daughter of Mr. James Henry Walting, aged 67 years, living at "Anton," Corbally, Limerick, suffered a severe shock this morning when they found him dead, seated in an armchair in the sittingroom.

Mrs. Walting and her daughter retired to bed last night, leaving Mr. Walting in the sittingroom, listening to the radio. When they came down this morning at 7.30 o'clock they found him dead, with the wireless still turned on. Death was due to heart failure.

CAREY'S ROAD HOUSING SCHEME

A meeting of the General Purposes Committee of Limerick Corporation will be held to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 7.30 to discuss the Carey's Road Housing Scheme with Mr. M. J. Scott, B.E., Engineering Inspector of the Department of Local Government, and Mr. Manning Robertson, Town Planning Consultant.

FAMOUS EYE SPECIALIST DEAD

Professor Alfred Voght, world-famous ophthalmic surgeon, who operated on Mr. de Valera in 1936, has died at the age of 64, after a long illness. Professor Voght, who resigned from Zurich University last spring for reasons of health, had been Professor at the University and Director of the Ophthalmic Clinic since 1923.

ENNIS DISTRICT L.D.F. GAMES COMPETITION

Ennis District Staff, L.D.F., has appointed a committee of six to make arrangements for the district hurling and football competitions, to the winners of which a cup and set of medals will be awarded. The district will also compete in the Command Championships, which will embrace all the Munster counties.

"IMPORTED" HOUSES

Speaking of the housing problem in Britain, Mr. L. S. Amery, British Secretary of State for India, said:—"It may well be that we may have to import ready-made houses with all their fittings by the hundred thousand and run them up as quickly as the land can be cleared, and the water, gas and electricity laid on."

A FINE EFFORT

Last week was observed as an Arbor Week at Ferns, where 8,500 trees were planted under the direction of the local Parish Council. Very Rev. Canon Codd, P.P., V.F., planted the first tree.
