DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN FIGURE

The death took place recently at Nazareth Home, Mallow, of Mr. Sean O'Carroll, Lodge, Hospital, at a fairly advanced age (writes our Hospital correspondent). Deceased had been a well-known figure in the national and administrative life of the county for many years. He was one of the committee who received the late Sean McDermott in 1908, and was one of the earliest adherents of the Sinn Fein policy. He was Captain of the local Volunteer Company prior to 1916, and was arrested for drilling his men in 1917 and sentenced to twelve months imprisonment. His release from prison the following year was the occasion of a great celebration in his honour in Hospital. The band and Volunteer Company conveyed him from the railway station and all houses in the town were illuminated that night. In recent years he had given valuable assistance as a member of the County Committee of Agriculture. He was a personal friend of many of the Irish leaders through the struggle for independence. His remains were conveyed by train to Knocklong and brought to Hospital for interment, an extremely large attendance being present. R.I.P.
