"Orpheus in the Underworld," and
"The Toreador's Song," with Mr.
John Lynskey. The quartette from "Rigoletto," with Miss Lilian Cahill, Miss Maureen O'Hanrahan, Mr. James Penny and Mr. John Lynskey, was delivered with fire and vigour and was deservedly encored. The semi-choruses, "Brahms Waltz" and "Minuet," by Boccherine, were neatly rendered by Misses P. O'Sullivan, L. O'Donovan, K. Colbert and E. and M. Murray, and Messrs. H. O'Donnell, A.
O'Riordan, B. Smith and B. Hurley.
Two Irish airs were also nicely sung by the semi-chorus, consisting of Misses P. Hickey, K. Ryan, J. O'Mahony, H. Lennon, M. Naughton and B. Barrett, and Messrs. L.
Benson, A. Griffith, P. Quin and D.
Burke. Several solos by Mr. Lynskey gave additional perfume to a choice bouquet.

The orchestral accompaniments were extremely satisfactory.

TRAGIC DISCOVERY

The body of an elderly man named Michael Keane, cattle drover, residing at 8 Arthur's Quay, Limerick, was found in his room on Friday by neighbours, who had not seen him for some days. The deceased, who appeared to have been dead for about a week, was destitute and had no relatives. The remains were removed to Barring-ton's Hospital, where a post-mortem was held. The medical report attributes death to natural causes and in the circumstances the Coroner did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.

SILAGE FROM WHEAT CROP

Commenting on the forward condition of early sown corn and the need for checking growth to avoid lodging, H. I. Moore, writing in "The Farmer and Stock-Breeder," says that up to four tons of silage per acre can be cut from forward wheat without seriously affecting the final yield of grain. Much more important is the fact that by cutting, the length of straw is reduced by six inches, he continues. Picking up the short stuff, however, is not a simple task except when one is fortunate enough to have a Cutlift.
