

Magolden, to hold certificate Rev. J. O'Byrne, C.C., said he ned to oppose the granting of licence.
 Justice—Of course the applicant ld have to get notice of that.
 Father O'Byrne—I have been sidering this for some time.
 Justice—You will have to give ce of that to the applicant the t time he applies.
 Father O'Byrne—What notice ld be required? I have very ous reasons for doing this.
 Justice—Is this an annual lice?
 Apt. McKenna—It is not an an-Justice—The applicant should be beforehand because he would t to be in a position to meet it.
 Father O'Byrne—I was not aware any notice was necessary.
 Justice—I never had a monthly opposed before and I fancy that an application of this sort the icant might like to get some ons why he is being opposed.
 You send them to the Superintent he can send them to the icant and let me know.
 Father O'Byrne asked how many notice were necessary.
 Justice—Better give a fortnight's ce.
 The applicant said that he had objection to having the reasons d for opposing the licence.
 Justice—I will leave it stand to next day. In the meantime I give the licence.
 Father O'Byrne—Could there be objection on the point of age?
 Understand that the age has been ced to 16 and I think it should restored to 18.
 Justice—We'll hear that the next

College, Pallaskenry, from July 22nd to July 31st.

WEST LIMERICK INQUEST

Mr. M. E. Cussen, solr., Coroner for West Limerick, sitting with a jury, at the home of deceased, held an inquest into the circumstances connected with the death of James Quinlivan (56), farmer, Arlaman, Rathkeale, who died from injuries received as a result of being gored by a bull when himself and his brother were driving the animal from one field to another across the road near their home.
 Dr. W. Mulcahy, M.O., Rathkeale, having described the injuries, said death was due to shock and haemorrhage.
 Recording a verdict of accidental death, the Coroner expressed sympathy with the bereaved relatives, and, joining in the vote, the foreman of the jury (Mr. P. McIntyre) complimented the Army authorities on the promptness with which they arrived on the scene and destroyed the bull after the accident.
