

Centenarian's Death

An Irish centenarian, who received the old age pension for 39 years, died at Boscree on Monday at the age of 104 years. He was Mr James Walsh, who resided at Limerick street in that town for over sixty years.