
Sportsman's Death

The death occurred at his residence, Church street, Tipperary, after an illness which lasted some months, of Mr Patrick J O'Dwyer. Deceased was associated with various sporting activities in the town, and was well known to followers of racing throughout the country, being for over 20 years connected with the turf.
