

of which was produced in Kilmeedy, Newfound from old a tyre of quality to the He had no number of and William evidence, referred to ant, prior to Harry driver of for the Tour had been em and accounted s yearly with defendant £5 e commended Superinten the matter.

from a nāo
eunt an iud
as luct
mberi luct
n opt? " as
pi ns tipe
ca do ces
a. Seottan
Ceirt agam
n, St. Clas.
r O Dhaon
an go bruit
acu. Ba
a Scimpeao
oinnt ceir
a mi. aban.
EA.

ion across the r Bolton, to
a practical
s. Through hool boys
given an ding meet
council and
tes on the genda. A s from the meetings of th and be begun the them the agenda, so
asily follow
s a an idea
ell put into DONNACH.

Father George Burns, S.J., told the Catholic Social Guild in Liverpool recently, "sometimes merely buttress gross social injustices." If social injustices were not so flagrantly rampant there would be far less need than there is for public and private effort to keep people merely from starving.

* * *

In every country there will always be human derelicts who are incapable of looking after themselves. These helpless creatures have never been treated as generously as their pitiable plight deserved. This is because it was necessary at the same time to look after thousands of others who should be independent and self-supporting through their own exertions. In this fact there is an extra reason why work should be made available to all who need and are able to do it.

* * *

In a country like this, where there is so much to be done after long ages of neglect, there should be no unemployment. With proper organisation it ought be not merely possible but easy to arrange work for all, and this is the objective that must be aimed at as soon as something like normal times return. The useful absorption of the unemployed would bring many substantial benefits. It would add to the wealth of the nation, increase the total of purchasing power, ease the burdens of taxation, and end the demoralising idea, now so prevalent, of trying to get something for nothing.

and face it. We have only to look to other cities and towns, such as Galway and Tralee, and see the vast improvement schemes that have been adopted. Now, the question arises—will Limerick lag behind while other cities and towns are marching onward?

Yours faithfully,

"A WORKINGMAN."

LATE DAN QUAID

—oo—

AN APPRECIATION

The passing away of Mr. Dan Quaid, Parnell Street, Limerick, will recall to many of the older citizens pleasant memories of the long ago—the days when a Munster Cup final between Garryowen and Lansdowne was an event that absorbed the interest of almost all the citizens, and certainly of those whose minds were centered on sporting events. Dan, in his young days, took a keen interest in all forms of sport and was one of the founder members of the Lansdowne Rugby F.C. He was big in mind and could be as enthusiastic as a spectator in a Munster final in hurling as at a final of the Munster Cup in rugby. Many stories have been told of his great work for Lansdowne, how he would attend juvenile games with the object of "spotting" likely players for the team of his affection, of his staying at home from fairs to play a match for his club, and the endless trouble he so often went to for the purpose of getting players off from their places of work to turn out for Lansdowne.

Dan was a most loveable man, ever eager to do a good turn, and his purse was never closed in the days gone by when an appeal was made for help for less fortunate ones. When Lansdowne juniors of 1901 won the Diver Cup he was, perhaps more than any other man, the one who did most to get the team to train, and although past his time as a player, he would don the togs during a practice if there were not enough present to make up a second team. When differences took place amongst members and it is only too true to say differences occur in all clubs—he was ever ready with the kindly word to smooth out the difficulties which had arisen, and his genial smile and cheery word were never known to fail in adjusting disputes; so much so, that he could have justly claimed to have done more to instil that spirit of brotherliness at Covent Garden, India, America, Australia. She later appeared at Royal, Dublin. She American, Mr. Bushnell died at Sydenham in Hayes was at that time "Irish Nightingale." — JAMES G.

DEATH OF MR. OW

The death took place yesterday of Mr. O. who, over 30 years ago, active part in the public life of Limerick. He was a member of the Limerick Corporation and Board of Guardians, and was a well-known figure in Limerick but also in the surrounding counties. He was also a business man. Deep sympathy be tendered to his widow in their bereavement.

The remains will be removed from his residence, St. Joseph's, Simon Road, to St. Patrick's, this evening at 6 o'clock. Requiem High Mass morning at 11 o'clock, the service will take place in Mount Jerome Cemetery.

CLERICAL CHANGES

Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty, Killaloe, has appointed Very Rev. P. Gaynor, P.P., Inagh and Kilnana, to be P.P. of Kilmallock. Rev. M. Baker, C.C., Roscommon, to be P.P., Inagh and Kilnana.

which was an outstanding characteristic of the Club into Limerick men than any other man.

He used to speak with the "old crowd," and was always eager to subscribe to have offered for the repose of a deceased fellow-member. He used to say: "I love to see 'Lansdowne' men never. He certainly never forgot those of us who still survive. He was not likely to forget the big, loveable Dan. It is a source of consolation to his friends in Old Lansdowne F.C. to know that he was loved not alone by his mates, but by all who knew him. His memory will be revived even by the old Lansdowne men who speak of the past—it would be a Lansdowne past if Dan were not in it—and there are many in foreign countries who, with the greatest sincerity, they learn of his death. Dan, the whitest man a friend that ever lived." I will say it at that.

At 1 o'clock (O.T.),

On the Premises,

For Michael J. Dore, Esq.

The premises are two-storey, situated in Upper Main Street, containing kitchen, large shop, fitted with counters, shelving, etc., and 3 large rooms on second floor; flush lavatory.

The above are in perfect repair and need no outlay. Wired throughout with electric light, water laid on from the main. Free of rent. P.L.V., £3 0s. 0d. Out-offices consist of turf shed, store, etc. Vacant possession.

For further particulars and Conditions of Sale, apply to:

M. J. K. DORE, Solicitor, Newcastle West; or