TO CORRESPONDENTS

Correspondents are once more reminded that when forwarding letters or items for insertion not merely the full name but also the address of the sender must be given—not necessarily for publication but as an evidence of good faith. It is also to be remembered that signatures must be in handwriting and not merely typed. Failure to observe these essential rules is occasionally responsible for the non-appearance of letters and items that would otherwise be published. It is also to be remembered that matter for the Press must be written on one side of the paper only.

ABBEYFEALE FAIR

Large fair, prices not much better than previous, but more sales effected in stores, mostly because of difficulty in finding outside grazing for surplus stocks. Milkers in demand at about £14 to £18; springers, £18 to £22; few reached £25 to £30. Best yearlings, £10, from £6; 2-3 years, £15 to £18; bonhams, £4 to £5. More pigs sold at market at standard rates than at previous market.
