CASTLETROY GOLF CLUB

A new record for the Club Mixed Foursomes was established on Sunday last when 64 players took out cards. Some very fancied pairs failed to distinguish themselves and some of the lesser known players were prominent throughout. The vagaries of the weather prevented any kind of high scoring but the frequent showers failed to damp the enthusiasm of the winners, Miss P. Hartigan (35) and Mr. D. O'Connor (16), who returned the very creditable score of 3 up. This pair, however, only won on the 2nd nine holes after a tie with Mrs. B. Raleigh (32) and Mr. John Burke (plus 4).

Since taking over the captaincy of the Castletroy Club, Mr. F. J. Kavanagh has filled the office with the greatest distinction. His keen judgment and enthusiasm have been an inspiration to the members, and under his guidance the Club has made rapid strides. On Sunday next the members will have an opportunity of demonstrating their appreciation of him when they will participate in the competition for the valuable prize which he is presenting. It is certain that there will be a full attendance of members, and the Captain's Day will be one that will be long remembered in the annals of Castletroy. The morning from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. will be devoted to the Captain's prize, and in addition to the major trophy there will be a valuable prize for the runner-up. In conjunction with this competition there will be a prize for one or two sealed holes, and it is hoped that this prize will be a new Dunlop 65. In the afternoon the usual fourball competition versus bogey will be held, and here again there will be special valuable prizes for the winners and the pair filling second place. A putting competition throughout the day will be also held, and one or two more new golf balls will be given for this. The evening will conclude with the presentation of prizes, followed by a social and dance in the new extended dining hall. The Qain Cup and the Shannon Cup will also be presented to
