...thanks for the keen interest he was taking in the housing question.

...The Mayor said that if they were allowed build those houses as a slum clearance scheme they would work out cheaper than those that already had been built as such. They could be let at 6/- or 7/- a week.

...Mr. Cusack said that in view of the acute housing shortage in Limerick the Minister should be asked to modify the regulations governing the building of new houses.

...Mayor—We don't want palaces.
What is urgently required is a house for the working man, in which the sexes can be segregated.

...On the suggestion of the Deputy Manager (Mr. J. J. Dundon, Law Agent) it was decided to ask the Department to send down an inspector to examine the whole question of housing in Limerick with the Council.

...plete destruction of the human race. The mere contemplation of this ought surely give pause to the statesmen and spokesmen who are inclined to flout strict justice and to build up a peace of aggrandisement and vengeance rather than one of all-round fair play and mutual trustfulness and respect.

We have only to hope that sanity will assert itself and that the leaders everywhere will come to see that observance of Christian principles of justice is what in the long run will yield the richest dividend to all peoples and nations. In the meantime it is reasonable to expect that economic improvements will speedily begin to flow from the ending of the war in the Pacific. Further shipping on a large scale should almost at once become available for the transport of goods and raw materials while industrial output is almost certain to immediately expand.
