was guilty of gross negligence and recklessness, and must, therefore, be held responsible for the consequences of his act.

Judge—Is there any evidence as to how the fire started except the statement of the accused?

Mr. Donovan—None; my lord.

The Judge said that in this case onus was on the State to prove that the burning was malicious, or that the act was committed with intent to injure or defraud anybody. Accordingly he directed the jury to find the accused not guilty. Accused was then discharged.

DEATH OF AGED NUN

The death (writes our Hospital correspondent) occurred at the Convent of the Holy Cross and Passion, Kilcullen, Co. Kildare, of Sister Melani of that Order. Deceased, who was a native of Rathkea, Tipperary, was sister of Mrs. Catherine O'Callaghan and Mrs. Mary O'Callaghan, Ballyhone, Emly. She was also aunt of Mr. Jerome O'Callaghan, Ballyhane. The late Sister Melani, who had reached an advanced age, spent a good many years in Scotland. The people of Emly and surrounding district extend their sympathy to the O'Callaghan families on their bereavement.
