FINED AND BOUND TO THE PEACE

Charged at Ennis District Court with obstructing County Council employees who had been authorised by the Clare County Manager (Mr. D. O'Keeffe) to enter her land for the purpose of cutting turf, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Connor, of Clonlaheen, East, Miltown Malbay, refused to give an undertaking not to interfere with turf already cut, but after a consultation with her solicitor, Mr. G. O'Donnell, she did so.

Mr. M. J. Walshe, State Solicitor, who prosecuted, said defendant had deliberately attempted to obstruct the working of an Emergency Powers Order. She had been convicted on a previous occasion.

The defendant was fined £1 and bound to the peace for 12 months.

AUCTIONEER BEREAVED

Sincere sympathy (writes our Charleville correspondent) will be extended to Mr. M. S. Sheedy, auctioneer, Sorrell, Charleville, on the death of his wife, Mrs. Annie Sheedy, which sad event took place on Monday. The deceased, who had reached a mature age, was a member of a well-known and highly esteemed family, and her death is much regretted in the locality. There was a very large and representative attendance at the obsequies, which took place to Ballyhea Cemetery on Tuesday.

EAST LIMERICK AREA

An error was made in the article on the above in last week's "Leader." The date of the general meeting in Castleconnell is May 26th—not June 16th as was stated. Will all secretaries please note.

been considered but this could be described as a step "from the frying-pan into the fire" since it is only a mere stream and in period of summer drought variably runs dry. Wherever solution is to be found, some practical steps should be taken and the near future.

OPERA STARS FOR SAV

Operatic stars from the Sadle Wells and Carl Rosa Opera Companies will sing at two operatic celebrity concerts arranged for Limerick Savoy for Sunday next 19th inst., and the following Sunday. Those appearing on the first name date will be Victoria Sladen and Ivan Dixon, who are known to Limerick audiences. They will be in the good company of Patricia Black, now contralto with the Carl Rosa Company, and baritone Edmond Dunleavy from the Sadle Wells. On Sunday, May 26th, Ruth Packer, who previously captivated the hearts of Limerick, will be in company with Mary Chitty, another soprano from Carl Rosa; George Chitty, a tenor of B.B.C. fame, and the well-known Dublin baritone John Lynsky. So once again opera lovers will have two excellent programmes from artistes whose names are household words in musical circles.

LIMERICK HIS FIRST TEACHING CENTRE

Limerick was the first teaching centre of the late Rev. Brother Ambrose Martin, who died at Baldoy, Dublin, last week at age of 86. For the last half century or so he had been attached to Artane Industrial School. He was a native of Ceannannus Mor.
