SENATOR'S DEATH

—oo—

NOTED CLAREMAN

The death took place at Ennis this morning of Senator T. J. Keane, who was a prominent figure in the National movement.

The late Senator Keane took an active part in the fight for Independence, being a member of the West Clare Flying Column. From the foundation of Fianna Fail he was one of its most energetic members in Clare, and for some years past he was Secretary of the Comhairle Ceanntair for that county.

The news of his death will be learned of with deep regret, for, irrespective of political affiliations, he was held in high regard by all sections of the general public.

DEATH OF MR. JEREMIAH GEARY

With deep and sincere regret we chronicle the demise of Mr. Jeremiah Geary, a director of Messrs. J. Geary, Sons & Co., Ltd., which took place in a Dublin nursing home on Monday night following a long illness.

The deceased, a member of an old and highly esteemed Limerick family, with his brothers, took an active part in the Sinn Fein movement. He enjoyed the confidence, regard and respect of the citizens, a fact that was fully demonstrated when the remains arrived at the borough boundary at Pennywell yesterday evening and again to-day, when the funeral took place to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery, following Solemn Requiem Mass in St. Munchin's Church. The corteges on both occasions were of immense proportions, being representative of all sections of the community.

This is the second bereavement met by the Geary family in a comparatively short time, as only five weeks ago a younger brother, Mr. Gus Geary, was laid to rest. The sympathy of the citizens, in which we fully join, is extended to them in their sorrow.
