DEATH OF MRS. O'RAHILLY, BRIDGETOWN

The death of Mrs. Nora O'Rahilly, wife of Mr. Jack O'Rahilly, licensed trader, Bridgetown, Co. Clare, which took place unexpectedly on Saturday last, has been learned of with very deep regret and sorrow.
The late Mrs. O'Rahilly, who was a member of a prominent family, possessed many fine traits of character and her loss to her husband and young family is well-nigh irreparable.

The sympathy of the countryside is extended to her highly respected husband—a man who played an active part in the Independence movement—in his great bereavement.

The interment took place in Bridgetown Cemetery on Monday after Solemn Requiem High Mass, of which Very Rev. Michael O'Rahilly, P.P., Portroe (brother-in-law of deceased,) was celebrant.

There was a very large attendance of the general public at the obsequies, mourners having come from far and near to pay their last tribute of respect to the mortal remains of a woman who had led a full and active life.

We join with the community as a whole in tendering deep and genuine sympathy to Mr. O'Rahilly, his children and other relatives in their sorrow.

Itching Skin

DON'T SCRATCH at burning and itching caused by eczema and other skin irritations. Get DOAN'S OINTMENT—made especially for the quick relief of itching skin. Just try this wonderful ointment and see how quickly it relieves the fiery burning.
