On the proposal of Mr. T. Duke, the Committee decided to ask the Minister for Agriculture what would be the position of fruit-growers if foreign fruit was to be admitted freely to this country.

GLIN FAMILY BEREAVED.

Mrs. Bridget D. Leahy, who has died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. May French at New Ross, was a member of an old Glin family (writes our Glin correspondent). The late Mrs. Leahy's family has given many members to the Church and to the medical and legal professions. She was mother-in-law of Mr. T. Casey, N.T., Glin, whose wife predeceased her by a few months. She was the grandmother of Mr. P. Casey, B.L., Glin. Her husband was the late Mr. Patrick Leahy, last Workhouse Master of Glin Union, dissolved in 1891. To her family at New Ross and Glin, deepest sympathy is extended.

GLIN REGRETS CANON'S DEATH.

Deeply regretted in Glin was the death of Very Rev. Canon Foley, P.P., Dromcollogher. The late Canon was a beloved curate in Glin for fifteen years (writes our local correspondent). During his curacy he won the esteem and love of the people of Glin. During the "troubled times" the late Canon's intervention saved many people. Canon Foley was the donor of the beautiful grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes in the Glin Parish Church grounds. The parishioners' deepest sympathy are extended to his family and to the Bishop and clergy of his late diocese.

BETTER CLOTHING SOON.

Men and women during the next few months will be able to secure better suits and better material. More suitable wool and more plentiful piece goods have become available and the Minister for Industry and Commerce has Killaloe last week, writes our correspondent there. The nerve soothing weed was never so scarce in our midst, and shop-keepers were besieged every morning and evening by womenfolk in quest of same for themselves and their husbands, many of whom were complaining of headaches, loss of appetite, dizziness and sleeplessness, due to the want of the popular cigarette. The menfolk, eventually tried the pipe, but they discarded the duidin the moment the belated cigarette supply arrived in town.

FATAL INJURIES

CYCLIST MEETS ACCIDENT

The death, following an accident, of Mr. James Sheehy, Deerpark, Scariff, is deeply regretted, writes our Killaloe correspondent. On Thursday last the deceased left his home on a bicycle to attend a funeral at Raheen.

As he was cycling down an incline to the main entrance of Raheen Hospital, both brakes of the machine failed, and when trying to take a short turn at the entrance gate, he was dashed against the pillar, sustaining extensive injuries. He was immediately removed to Raheen Hospital, where he died the next day.

GOOD CROPS IN KILLALOE

In the Killaloe area, writes our correspondent there, very little damage has been done by the heavy rain which fell recently. The wheat crop is now being reaped without much difficulty, and within the past week much of the oat crop has been cut and stoked. Everywhere throughout the district a good harvest is predicted, as the weather is now favourable and fully availed of. There is an excellent potato crop which has, so far, escaped the blight.
