

there were no entries in the begonia classes. I was glad to see a good entry of herbaceous phlox, one of my favourite border plants, for which Mrs. Grene Barry of Sandville took first prize, and P. Schofield, Monahdas House, Tipperary, second. Major Grove Annesley showed some magnificent blue and white delphiniums of the giant Californian strain, which he had raised from seed; the white varieties would be very valuable for cutting. He also had some interesting shrubs in his collection, particularly Gaultheria Hookeri, with pale blue berries, a semi-creeping lime hating, but attractive looking

Ireland.

CLASSES THAT FILLED BADLY.
There were very few entries in the commercial classes for packed fruit, and in the classes for cottiers and allotment holders. In these latter classes B. Gubbins, of South Circular Road, Limerick, and T. McNamara, Skehana Cottage, Corcora, showed remarkably high class fruit. The County Instructors might be able to induce more of these small holders to enter, and also more of the commercial growers to try their luck. Not the least important feature of the show was the number and excellence of the trade exhibits.

DEATH OF PROMINENT GLIN L.D.F. MEMBER.

Mr. William Fitzgerald, Glin, who has just died, was a prominent member of the local L.D.F. His death at the age of 42 years is deeply regretted in Glin, where he was most popular. He is survived by his wife and five young children.

TRIDUUM IN GLIN

The Triduum of Prayer directed by the Archbishops began in Glin Parish Church on the morning of Friday, September 13th, and closed on Sunday evening last (writes our Glin correspondent). The devotions were attended each morning and evening by large numbers of the parishioners.

possible to the rest of

AC

The mod
scale onion
couple of ti
tions. Unfo
done on au
would wea
that the fro

TAR

For a v
above men
I will requ
spring cab
Mr. Gleeso
officer, for
He brough
publication
ing paper,
cent. tar oi
empty plot
tar oil will following c
that the v
trees in gr
grass unde
covered an
from 7½ to