

Woman Dies On Her Way To Church

While proceeding to Church, Mrs A O'Shaughnessy, wife of Mr P O'Shaughnessy, Ballyhonan, Akeston, was taken suddenly ill and died at her residence a few hours later fortified by the Last Rites of the Church.

The esteem in which the deceased lady was held and the sorrow felt at her passing were reflected in the large and representative gathering that attended her funeral from St. Mary's Church, Akeston, to the local cemetery.
