

Pat to Hollywood in 1936, to Flynn's brother in "The Large Of The Light Brigade," after he had made his bow on the London stage and had appeared in British pictures for two years. His second American film, "Robin Hood," found Knowles in another secondary role with Lynn, and for some time after that Knowles was relegated to second leads.

Only now, is Knowles hitting his stride as a leading man. Since signing a Paramount contract he has played five top roles in five films, including "Dream Girl," which will be screened shortly. Pat is currently the male lead in Paramount's "Isn't It Romantic?" which also stars Veronica Lake, Mary Thatcher, Mona Freeman, in a big number of cinemas. The position at the Savoy Limerick creates a different problem however. For the past few months audiences have been seeing the cream of American and English films with a stage show composed of the leading top-line American Continental and Irish acts. Audiences have become so accustomed to the big value (it is the best in Eire I am told) that they are loath to see variety disappear from the stage. Mr. Clifford Marston, popular manager of this theatre tells me that it all depends on attendances. If the people want cine-variety they can have it by coming along and proving to the powers-that-be that they desire it. Personally I feel that we should have at least one cine-variety house in a city the size of Limerick.

The purpose of Muintir na Tire, then, was to organise the different elements of rural life in Ireland into one body for the common good. It strives to promote the true welfare of Ireland, spiritual, cultural and material, based on a wider and better knowledge and practice of Christian social principles. Politics had no place in their organisation.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION.

Father Hayes then proceeded to enumerate the various local matters that affect a parish community, viz.—education in all its branches; social organisation; labour disputes; drainage; roads; sanitation; water supply; power and lighting, etc. He understood that the people of Ballyagran parish were keenly interested in the rural electrification scheme. This, as well as any of the other matters just referred to, could be very effectively dealt with through Muintir Na Tire. In his own parish of Bansha, the scheme would be operating and the lights turned on to cottages on the slopes of the Galtee Mountains in about a fortnight hence. The cottier was being very fairly treated, and would have complete installation without incurring a penny cost. All he would have to pay was the cost of consumption, which for a labourer's cottage would work out at approximately 3d. per day. All others would pay a rental for ground space in addition to cost of consumption.

DISUSED MILL AS JAM FACTORY.

In his parish also, Muintir Na Tire had taken over a mill which had been disused for nearly 200 years; had it completely renovated and converted into a jam factory, which would be in operation in a few weeks. Twenty girls would have employment in the factory and a few men also. In addition it would provide local fruit growers with a ready market for their produce.

Concluding, Father Hayes said a successful Parish Guild would embrace the local clergy, farmers, labourers, shop keepers, teachers, and any other class that may be in the parish. A respected organisation of this kind can and will do a great deal of good. Looking back on the growth of Muintir Na Tire he was forced to one conclusion—that the hand of Providence was in it (prolonged applause).

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. O'Herrlihy, organiser, said that as Father Hayes had so clearly stated the aims and objects of Muintir Na Tire, and covered practically all the ground that he had intended to go over, there was little left for him to say. He would, however, ask the people to say now if they were in favour of forming a Parochial Guild and Council that night. Having received a ready response in the affirmative, the first business undertaken

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

without Calomel—and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk, and the world looks punk.

Laxatives help a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good old Carters Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carters Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else, 1/3 and 3/4.
