

others' Schools, Sexton Street, Limerick, which won the two-part choir competition for boys under 15 at Felle Luimnighe on Sunday.

DEATH OF DR. HEDERMAN, CROOM

We deeply regret to announce the death of Doctor William Hederman, of Glenwood, Croom, Medical Officer of Croom Dispensary district (writes our Croom correspondent). He had been ill for some short time and on medical advice was transferred to a Dublin hospital, where, in spite of specialists' treatment, he died a week later.

The deceased gentleman came of a local family associated with the sporting and farming life of the County Limerick for well over a century. He was a nephew of the late Daniel Hederman, Ballyneale, whose bloodstock was so well known at the Newmarket Sales and on Irish and English courses.

Doctor Hederman, who was about sixty years of age, was a well-known figure, not only in his native district and in the centre of his professional labours, but throughout the county and generally. A true sportsman in every sense of the word, he was well-known in the hunting field, had a keen eye for horseflesh, was a noted angler and splendid shot, and in his student days was well-known as a Rugby footballer. Swimming also was one of the arts in which he excelled. His character was like his person—strong, open, honest, and direct even to bluntness. Kind and sympathetic under the guise of taciturnity, he was unobtrusively hospitable and charitable. He knew neither rest nor weariness where his patients' interests were concerned, and day and night, year in, year out, on motor-cycle or motor car, he was busy from one end to the other of his dispensary district and well beyond. His loss will be felt far and wide but its keenness will be greatest and most acutely felt by his heart-broken widow and child-

NEWCASTLE WEST AUCTIONS

Mr. Laurence Curtin, Auctioneer, Newcastle West, recently put up for sale by public auction a plot of land, containing about one statute acre, suitable for building purposes, the property of Mrs. Nora Kirby, at Cullinagh, Newcastle West. Mr. P. J. Leonard, Horticultural Instructor, South Quay, was declared the purchaser at £325 and fees. Mr. R. J. Cussen, solicitor, had carriage of sale and the purchaser was represented by Mr. E. Cussen, solicitor.

Mr. Curtin also put up for auction on Thursday of last week, the two-storey premises situate at Upper Maiden Street, owned by the Repts. of the late Mrs. Nora O'Callaghan. Mrs. Michael Murphy, Corner House, Upper Maiden Street, was declared the purchaser at £300. Mr. M. F. Noonan (Messrs. Liston and Company, solicitors) had carriage of sale.

IT'S YOUR LUCKY
DAY

Get that Lucky Sweep Ticket from

Slattery's
Lucky House
FERMOY

Tickets, 10/-. Shares, 5/-. 2/6, 1/-; post paid.

ren, to whom is tendered in the truest, broadest sense the deep and sincere condolence of the community at large.

The funeral took place on Wednesday from St. Mary's Church. Details in next week-end issue.

in the initial stages, but on Wednesday night a start was made with the seven-a-side tournament, which will be a feature of the "Week." St. Patricks had the first victory, defeating Technical Schools by a wide margin.

I have been asked by the secretary of the Camogie Board to mention here that she has mislaid the letter received on Saturday last from a Comogie Club in the county. If the said Camogie Club will contact her again, she will be only too glad to furnish all particulars.

MUCH-NEEDED WATER SUPPLY

The people living in the neighbourhood of Glenahoglisha are for many years agitating with the Limerick County Council regarding the dearth of water in the locality (writes our Ballylanders correspondent). Now, due to the energy of Mr. Pat Maguire, Co.C., a native of Glenahoglisha himself, the Council are piping a distance of four or five hundred yards and bringing the water from the mains on the Mitchelstown road. This act of social welfare is very much appreciated by the inhabitants of the locality.

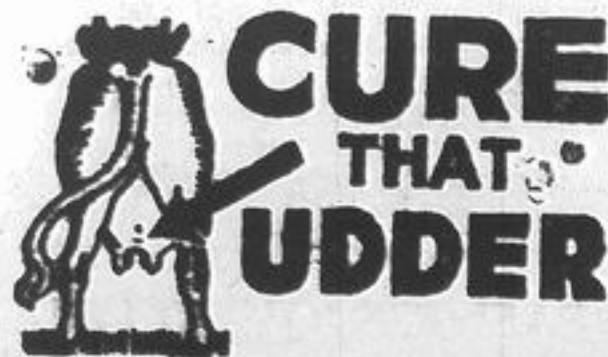

RURAL WORK ON SUNDAYS

A Clare correspondent signing himself "farmer" writes us denouncing the practice of farmers and other sections of the rural community doing unnecessary work on Sundays. "Enough credit" he says, "cannot be given to men who properly observe the sabbath while their neighbours, often much better off than themselves, proceed to bogs and meadows." Some, he says, have not the moral courage to refrain from Sunday work when they see their neighbours doing it. "For God's sake," he adds, "let us stop hand work, horse work and mechanical work on Sundays."

CROAGH FARMER PASSES AWAY

The death occurred at his residence, Ballymacave, Croagh, on the 23rd April, of Mr. James Hayes. Deceased was an extensive and industrious farmer, who was popular with all classes in the locality where he lived. The remains were removed to Croagh church on Saturday evening and the funeral took place to the local cemetery on Sunday.

The officiating clergy were—Very Rev. Canon Murphy, P.P.; Rev. M. O'Brien, P.P.; Rev. D. O'Donnell, P.P., and Rev. Father O'Dea, C.C.

Here's the way to cure it—use Curud—proved by thousands of practical farmers as the magic drench that reduces udder...

...to walk out in

The man who wears Saxone shoes, steps out with confidence born of sheer comfort. Whether they are smart town shoes or brave brogues, they will be thoroughbreds. Skilled craftsmen modelled them from fine leather,

and trained Saxone assistants made sure the fit was perfect.

