Superintendent said that were six previous convictions similar kind against the defendant.

Justice—One month, with hard labour.

Defendant—Ah, you should give me a chance, sir. It is the first time I appeared before you.

Justice—There are six previous convictions against you.

At this stage the defendant beat his attorney's retreat, and as he was taken into custody, he muttered amidst laughter: "Ah, ah, six times, and this is the seventh."

GLIN COURTHOUSE

The usual December sitting of Glin District Court was not held on Wednesday last, in consequence of a decision announced by Justice Kenny at the November sitting that he would not sit in Glin at such time as necessary extensional repairs were carried out to the courthouse there.

Meanwhile, the County Council advertised for tenders for repairs to the Courthouse and the proposals received as a result will be considered by the Council at its meeting on December 18th. There is therefore, prospects that the Justice will resume his monthly sittings in Glin in the near future.

unanimous vote of thanks was voted to Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

THE UNEMPLOYED

There were 64,685 registered unemployed in the Twenty-Six Counties on November 27th, 110 more than the previous week.

A very interesting little function took place on the factory grounds at the Ardnacrusha Branch of Drombanna Creamery on Monday morning, 22nd November, when Mr.
T. Downes resumed his duties after his recent marriage.

Mr. A. Heffernan and Mr. M.
Ryan presented Mr. Downes with a wallet of notes on behalf of the suppliers, as a mark of their esteem.
They wished Mr. and Mrs. Downes many years of happiness, health and prosperity and the best of luck in their future years.

TEACHING APPOINTMENT.

Miss McInery, B.Comm., just qualified from the National University, has been temporarily appointed to the post of Commercial Teacher in Hospital Technical School (writes our Hospital correspondent). Miss McInery is a native of Limerick City and every good wish for her success is extended to her on her first appointment.

Patrick O'Halloran gave evidence of seeing a cargo of refuse deposited outside the defendant's premises. In an interview the defendant said that she sent one of her children out with the refuse and it was in a cardboard box. The general collection of refuse had taken place earlier that morning.
Mr. J. S. McNeice, solicitor, who defended, said that the defendant was getting a proper receptacle.
A fine of 5/- was imposed.

WIRING THE HOUSES

—oo—

THE E.S.B. SCHEME FOR KILFINANE

The Kilfinane rural electrification scheme, which was unavoidably delayed for a short time, is now under way (writes our Kilfinane correspondent). The E.S.B. station has established offices and storage accommodation in the town and it is not without hope that some of the area may be supplied with electric current for Christmas.

Labourers who applied to the local committee for employment should now apply at the E.S.B.
Office, Kilfinane.

The wiring of the houses in the area is progressing satisfactorily.
The labourers' cottages are not yet wired, and in this connection the Co. Manager is adamant in his decision in having the E.S.B. do the wiring.

CATCHING HARES FOR COURSING

In preparation for their annual coursing fixture, to be held in January, the members of the Bruff Coursing Club are busily engaged in the work of catching hares on the preserves and confining them to a large walled enclosure, where they will be kept and well cared for until the meeting in January. This novel idea should result in an abundance of strong, healthy hares for the meeting, which is now recognised as amongst the best in the country.
