

of accused for another week. Cooney, Adare, said he t they would be in a posi get on with the case next accused was not legally re- ted.

ENCE TRANSFERS

ITY APPLICATIONS

ad interim transfers of pub- licences were granted by D. F. Gleeson in the City t Court to-day first application was that of Mortell, in respect of pre- held by the late Joseph er, 61 Henry Street, Limerick. as stated that the applicant ne intended personal repre- ve of the late Mr. McAleer. M. O'Brien-Kelly, solr., was e applicant.

ick O'Dwyer, 54 Parnell St., om Mr. M. B. O'Malley, solr., ed, made a similar appli-as explained that the premises Parnell Street, Limerick, were cently by Mr. Laurence Ryan applicant.

ME ON HOLIDAY FROM AFRICA.

J. Martin, son of Mr. and W. Martin, Ballyroe, Kilfinane, merick, is at present home on s after spending four years African missions.

RUGBY NOTES

weekly Rugby Notes by are unavoidably held over. the last contribution for the e season, they give an in- ag review of the year's activi- The Notes will appear in full day's issue.

CESS AT BANK "EXAM"

Michael B. O'Halloran, son Thomas L. O'Halloran, Prin- f Leamy's School, Limerick, assed his first Institute of s Examination. Now in his ear, he entered the banking at the age of 17.

One is a prominent American Communist. Another committed suicide sometime ago. Another is waiting for a young lady to be divorced so that he may marry her; he is divorced already, himself. Finally the last "star" has been married three times (husbands still alive) and is on the "look-out" for the fourth! Notwithstanding all this, people flock to the cinemas to help, indirectly, to swell the "stars" banking accounts. Is it any wonder the world, including Ireland, is gone mad.

Your's faithfully,

"E.K."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

AND LATE MINISTER

Mr. G. E. Russell, President of the Limerick Chamber of Com- merce, has sent the following letter to An Taoiseach, Mr. John A. Costello:—

"My Dear Taoiseach—I wish to offer you, on behalf of the members of the Limerick Chamber of Com- merce, and on my own behalf, deepest sympathy in the sad loss our country has suffered by the recent death of Mr. T. J. Murphy, Minister for Local Government.

"I should be grateful if you would convey the sympathy of this Cham- ber to the widow and family of the late Mr. Murphy.

"Very sincerely yours,
G. E. RUSSELL."

FATAL SEIZURE IN HIS SHOP

On Saturday morning whilst attending a customer in his shop (writes our Kilfinane correspon- dent). Mr. M. Leahy, Grotto Place, Kilfinane, became ill and walked into his kitchen, where he collapsed and died.

An inquest was held by Dr. E. Cooke, who is deputising for Dr. J. Ryan, M.O. The funeral to Ardpat- rick on Monday after High Mass in St. Andrew's Church, Kilfinane, was one of the largest for a long time. Deceased is survived by his wife.

the occasion of his elevation to the See of St. Munchin.

INTERESTING PROPOSAL.

The suggestion made by Councillor P. Whelan to have a public clock erected in the facade of the City Technical Institute is worthy of serious consideration. Admittedly the cost would be considerable, but that in itself should not frighten the Vocational Education Com- mittee. A public timepiece in the particular part of the city, would be of great service and where the interests of the citizens are con- cerned ways and means could be found of securing the necessary capital. Perhaps, if energetic representations were made to the Department of Education a grant in-aid might be made available. In any case, it is an avenue well worth exploring. Should the attempt fail well and good; but why not try?

AFTER SEVEN YEARS.

After a lapse of seven years, the Muintir na Tire Rural Week will be held this year in Limerick, or to be precise, in Mungret College. The proceedings will open on 14th August and conclude on 21st. In 1942, when the Rural Week was last held at Mungret College, Mr. de Valera made a flying visit, on his way back from his constituency. He had scarcely arrived at the College when a urgent telephonic message came through to say that the then American Ambassador in Paris, Mr. William Bullitt, who had just landed at Shannon Airport, was anxious to meet Mr. de Valera. Within an hour the two statesmen were in conclave and, no doubt, the burning question under discussion was Ireland's neutrality. At that time, it will be recalled, the Germans were over-running Europe.