Castlematrix

Castle, built, according to O'Dowd in the time of Elizabeth, and had a storied history. It figured prominently in the struggles of the past between the Irish and the British invaders of our country. A special sketch of its history concludes as follows:-

Castlematrix has changed hands many times since the days of yore. Over two and a half centuries ago mills were built adjoining the castle by the then proprietor, Mr. J. Southwell Brown. The last owner of Castlematrix to operate the mills that are long since gone were the Johnstones, a popular and respected family.

The castle grounds were always open to visitors and though no knight in armour or gay cavalier met the gaze a joyous reception gh there was not a puff of wind was accorded to all, by the John-

CAHERDAVIN PUMP

And The Watering Of Cattle

(To the Editor, "Limerick Leader.") Dear Sir, Permit me, through your ever popular and widely read paper, to protest in the highest possible manner against the way the water pump situated in a field at Caherdavin is being used. A water barrel is placed right underneath the pump for cattle to drini; out of. I need hardly explain what is happening. The nuisance caused WEEKLY CATTLE AND SHEEP by these cattle, where they remain for hours around the water, is all Wednessday, July 13th-Cattle- going back into the well, and is Supplies in both fat and store cattle being pumped back again by the showed an increase on last week, people, rendering the water unfit for but less than seasonable; good human consumption. I would like attendance; brisk trade and good to know what the Medical Officer of
