LICENCE TRANSFER

APPLICATION BY INJURED GAEL

Michael Herbert, the well-known Ahane hurler, who is at present confined to the Richmond Hospital, following head injuries sustained last month in the Ahane v. Croom-Young Ireland senior hurling match, had an application for confirmation of the transfer of a licence to sell beer, cider and spirituous liquors by retail at and in the house at Sallymount, Castleconnell, made through his solicitor, Mr. N. S. Gaffney, at the Limerick Liberties Court to-day.

Mr. Gaffney said that the premises had been transferred to the applicant by his late uncle. The applicant was at present in hospital and his brother was carrying on the business in his absence, and he would ask that John Herbert be heard on Michael's behalf.

John Herbert gave evidence that he was brother of the applicant, who was in hospital in Dublin, and he would be there for a couple of weeks more. In the meantime witness was carrying on the business.

The Justice granted the application.

PLEASSED WITH HARVEST RESULTS

On the whole, farmers, in West Limerick, East and North Kerry, and where North Cork borders the Feale, are thoroughly pleased with this year's harvesting results (writes our Abbeyfeale correspondent). Many say that these results have been the best in quality for many years. Fears had been entertained earlier concerning some of the grain and root crops, but they disappeared with the earliest storing of hay for years of excellent quality. This was followed by a more abundant growth of aftergrass, served by the occasional showers on the warm lands. The grain was better than expected, though the straw was shorter than usual. Potatoes came on better than was anticipated, and more turf has been saved in excellent quality in the outlying turbary areas.

nanty Scheme, which was a very heavy one, was completed he had to use the officers available.

Mr. Russell—I believe that one man should be in charge of the administrative side of all housing. With the huge number of houses the Corporation would have eventually it would be essential to have a single housing section.

The Manager said that three officers were dealing with housing at the present time, and he doubted if such a complex scheme could ever be brought entirely under one officer.

There was no further discussion.

WILL CO-OPERATE

The Clare Co. Committee of Vocational Education have directed their six manual instructors to give every possible assistance to farmers seeking to benefit by the Farm Improvement schemes, promoted by the Department of Agriculture. Very Rev. Canon Vaughan, P.P., Chairman of the Committee; Mr. Sean Brady, Chairman of the Co. Council; and Mr. James Shannon, Chairman of the Co. Committee of Agriculture, strongly approved of a suggestion to this effect, made by the Department of Education. In a circular issued on the subject the latter Department referred to the dearth of tradesmen in country districts and the need of placing at the disposal of farmers the special knowledge and technical skill of manual instructors who conduct courses in building construction in Technical Schools. The help of those instructors would be of great benefit to farmers trying to erect gate piers, barns, poultry houses and the like under Farm Improvement Schemes.
