

credit balance at the end of the year, and as a result their schemes had been approved. He proposed to get rid of the credit balance by the estimate submitted, which would show a credit balance at the end of the financial year. Mr. O'Connell paid a tribute to the manner in which the Rev. Canon Vaughan had prepared the estimate, and associated himself with the scheme. He added that it would be a great experience for the Comhairle to have a credit balance.

THE FUTURE WITH HOPE.

It would be a solvent body and move forward with hope and confidence for the future. It was a pleasure to him to learn of the progress of technical education in the county. It was not due to any wave of popularity, but the fact that students had found that such education was of value to them. He pointed out that the schemes would compare to the advantages of technical education. Mr. O'Connell's estimate was adopted.

MUNSTER WIN IN GALWAY

played yesterday, Young defeated Galwegians by a try (3 pts.).

At the usual monthly meeting of the Limerick City Comhairle Ceanntair of Fianna Fail, held recently, amongst many items of local interest discussed was the question of T.B. patients. It was pointed out that such patients or members of their families were obliged to attend at the City Dispensary in all classes of weather for the purpose of receiving vouchers. It was suggested that for the convenience of such patients living in places far remote from the Dispensary that extra centres should be opened up for the reception of vouchers. If such extra centres were opened at the City Home and in Prospect the inconvenience and hardship of the many unfortunate victims could thereby be greatly alleviated.—Michael J. O'Brien, Hon. Sec., 28/11/49.

DEATH OF NONAGENARIAN

The death occurred of Mr. James Hartigan at his residence, Gurrane, Croom, at the age of 94 years (writes our Croom correspondent). The late Mr. Hartigan belonged to a well-known family and was a progressive farmer. He was very popular with all classes, and his death, even at so fine an age, occasioned deep regret over a wide area.

The remains were removed to Manister Church and the funeral took place to Kilpeacon Cemetery, where there was a large and representative attendance for the interment.

Officiating clergy were:—Very Rev. J. Kelly, P.P., Manister; Very Rev. J. Canon Wall, P.P., Croom; Rev. T. Kirby, C.C., do.; Rev. D. Crowley, C.C., do.

Chief mourners were—Miss Margaret Hartigan and Mrs. Costelloe (sisters), Messrs. Michael, Joseph, Edmond and Jack Costelloe (nephews), and Miss K. Costelloe (niece).
