

shock, due to the injuries described, and were of the opinion that those injuries might have been caused accidentally by the woman falling from a chair when white-washing.

WHAT THE JURY THOUGHT.

The jury, however, thought that further investigation was necessary. At their request, Dr. J. H. Counihan, Coroner, adjourned the inquest for a month to permit of the State Pathologist investigating the woman's death.

Dr. J. McGrath, State Pathologist, arrived in Ennis yesterday and examined the body of deceased. He then visited Dunsallath, West Clare, and inspected deceased's home.

farmer, for the sum of 125.

This, as claimed was for work done, goods supplied and services rendered to the defendant at his request within the past six years, which said sum was the amount estimated by the plaintiff for repairs to a Vauxhall car.

The Justice, in giving his reserved decision, said he had considered the facts and would give a decree for £18. He asked that his decision be communicated to the solicitor for the defendant, Mr. M. F. Noonan, Rathkeale.

Mr. O. Binchy, solicitor for plaintiff, said he would have the result communicated to Mr. Noonan. He asked for witnesses' expenses as two mechanics had attended on the last Court day.

The Justice allowed £1 expenses.
