noted, too, that the times of departure of the buses have been altered to convenience the working classes.

MR. TOM HUGAN.

The death of Mr. Thomas Hogan, Cahertigue, Newmarket-on-Fergus, is regretted as much in Limerick as in his native county. Tom Hogan sat for many years on the old Limerick Board of Guardians in virtue of his membership of the Limerick No. 2 (Clare) District Council. He was also a member of the Clare Co. Council some twentyfive years ago. He was an ardent adherent of Sinn Fein since its inception, and, of course, he took a prominent and active part in the struggle for independence. He was buried with military honours, the final volley being fired by his comrades in arms in the days of the Volunteers. Thus he was laid to rest after a life of unselfish devotion.

SALMON OVA.

A consignment of 50,000 salmon ova arrived at the Shannon Airport during last week, but they are not for the river Shannon, The ova came by air from Wales to Dublin and, having been disinfected, were sent on to Rineanna in an Aer Lingus 'plane. Later they were sent by road to Sneem, Co. Kerry, where they are to be set at liberty for propagating purposes. The ova, the gift of a number of Welsh sportsmen to the Kerry Fishery Co., are due to batch in a few weeks. No doubt, the salmon population of the Kerry rivers will be considerably increased as a result of this in-Jusion of "new blood."
