and he was not very drunk though he had enough taken. At that time he was taking another chap home instead of the other fellow bringing witness home.

Justice — The blind leading the blind.

Continuing, the defendant said that the Guard came out and asked witness what was his next move. The Guard ordered them to go home but witness told him that he was not entitled to order anyone home.

Justice — Did you pay for the window yet?—It's paid for.

Guard Brennan—It was one of the men who took him home who paid for the damage done to the window.

SEVERE WARNING.

The Justice severely warned the defendant, during the course of which he said: "I want you to know that the people of Doon want to go to bed at night without listening to blackguards like you roaring like a pack of dogs. If you come here again you will go to jail for two months."

The Justice imposed a fine of 20/- with 20/- costs on the disorderly behaviour summons, and he dismissed the other, remarking that there was some doubt as to whether the damage to the window was caused maliciously or not.

DEATH OF DROMCOLLOGHER MAN

The death took place, following a brief but serious illness, at his residence, Carroward, Dromcollogher, of Mr. William Horan. Well known and highly respected in the locality, his passing is regretted by a large circle of friends. The funeral, which took place from Dromcollogher Church to the local cemetery, was of large dimensions.
