FISHERMAN'S TRAGIC END

While out with two companions fishing from a boat on the Shannon at Coonagh Point on Friday night, William Considine, Upper Coonagh, was taken suddenly ill and died. The deceased, who was aged about 25 years, had been under medical treatment for some time for an affection of the heart, and as it was certified that death was due to cardiac failure an inquest was not considered necessary.

The deceased was a very popular young man and deep sympathy is felt for his highly respected family caused to the interior of the premises by vandals the Baths have been closed down. A caretaker is appointed for the summer months, but every year in his absence deplorable acts of vandalism have been perpetrated. Repairs cost the ratepayers a goodly sum at the advent of each swimming season, and the apprenhension of the blackguards responsible for this damage would be a boon not only to swimmers but to the community in general. It is too bad that the "hardy annuals" are made suffer because of the wanton conduct of others.

ST. VALENTINE.

To-morrow, 14th inst., will be St. Valentine's Day, when, no doubt, many young ladies will receive amorous messages through the post. The origin of this custom is unknown, but it is said that the Valentine card is older than its Christmas counterpart. It is generally accepted, however, that St. Valentine was in no way responsible for the love missives with which his name has been coupled. Some authorities say that in years gone by shy, bashful male lovers believed that by sending cards to young ladies on St. Valentine's Day they would create a "lasting" impres-Nowadays, sion. however, no importance is attached to these "sweet nothings," which are usually sent out by Gay Lotharios.

SLUMS AND HOUSES.

A correspondent states that many tenants of new houses that were erected by the Corporation so that slumdom might be brought to an end are not showing much interest in or concern for their new surroundings. He would seem to be afraid that in the course of time some, at least, of the new houses will not be much better than the hovels from which the tenants have been removed. Furthermore, he expresses the opinion that the conditions of which he complains is due to ignorance on the part of the tenants-that, in fact, ignorance is not bliss. Our correspondent makes the interesting suggestion that the Corporation might consider the
