

Caherconlish, where Ahane and the South Board pick—Emmets, clash in the opening round of the Senior Hurling Championship (3.45 p.m.), preceded by an attractive game in the East Limerick Junior Hurling Championship, in which the contestants are Caherline and Murroe—both names meaning something worth while in Limerick hurling history.

Ahane, in championship array, are a team to be respected by any opposition—they have a record all of their own and were a powerful force so long by the Shannon that it's difficult to visualise them in any role but winner. Yet, in Emmets, they meet worthy foes who made many fancied teams bite the dust in the course of the 1949 championship. The South lads fully realise the hard task before them on this occasion but are quietly confident of the outcome. It's an appetising menu, at any rate, and should attract the hurling fans to the popular Caherconlish venue.

Last Sunday, at Caherconlish, there was a touch of old times about the meeting of Boher and Old Pallas in the Junior Hurling Championship. It is years since either figured in a like contest, but the tradition of the game rarely fails to re-assert itself in a district, so that this latest clash must have re-awakened many memories. The result was a substantial win for the Boher stalwarts, 7-2 to 0-1, but I hear that Old Pallas can improve considerably and could be a force to be reckoned with before the year is out. They had many promising players, particularly McMahan, O'Keeffe and Franklin, with Joyce, Finucane and Ryan the most impressive of a well-balanced Boher fifteen.

City Tit-Bits.

Sunday last was a blank day for the City Board—the only tie listed, a Junior Football Championship game between C.I.E. and St. Nesan's, being "washed out" by the torrential rain.

Next Sunday, City hurling lovers will converge on Patrickswell, where a lively clash is anticipated between Treaty-Sarsfield and the junior champions, Patrickswell, in the Duggan Cup Senior Hurling competition. On the home sod, many expect Patrickswell to prove victorious. They were one of the outstanding teams of 1949, and with four or five players boasting recent experience on the County senior fifteen, are a side that cannot be lightly disposed of. The Thomondgate lads gave promise some time back of very big things in this grade but are a bit slow in the realisation. They cannot afford to delay much longer and Sunday may final.

Limerick C.B.S. have already disposed of Nenagh C.B.S. in this competition, and Thurles C.B.S. have beaten Charleville C.B.S and Ennis C.B.S.

Limerick and Thurles met in the Dr. Harty Cup this season, and Thurles were victorious. Limerick will have eleven of this Harty team playing on Sunday, while Thurles, who are Harty Cup winners, will have six of their Harty Cup team.

A good game is expected, and it is hoped that Limerick, who will have their two inter-provincial players, D. Kelly and E. Madden, will win.

The Limerick team will be selected from the following:—N. Kelly, D. Kennelly, E. Madden, S. McCormac, A. Dunne, G. Donoghue, P. Colleran, J. Murnane, D. Kelly, T. Donnelly, P. O'Connor, T. Murphy, T. Darcy, V. Culligan, E. Mulholland, D. Crowley, J. Fitzgibbon.

DEATH OF MISS META O'CARROLL

Very deep sympathy has been occasioned by the death of Miss Meta O'Carroll, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Carroll, Assembly Mall, Limerick.

The deceased took ill some weeks ago, and despite all the unremitting care and medical attention which she received, her end came on Saturday last, much to the regret of a very large number of friends.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Tuesday from St. John's Cathedral to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery.

The late Miss O'Carroll was a very popular member of the Dominican Church Choir, to which her father and sister were attached.

At a meeting of the Choir on Sunday last, a vote of sympathy, proposed by Rev. Father Hannigan, O.P., Director of the Choir, and seconded by Professor D. Guina, Organist and Choir Master, was passed with the parents and brother and sisters of the deceased.
