

in, Auctioneer, Newcastle West, receiving bids at his recent bull sale for Mr. M. Na
," a Shorthorn bull, which was purchased by Mr. James Dore, Kilredane, for 44 g

OT'S MEMORY A PATRIOT FAMILY TE BRIGADIER WALL LAST MANDEVILLE PASSES AWAY

r, "Limerick Leader.") or six years ago, an nds to erect a monuorial on a public site ne late Brigadier Sean c East Limerick Bri-comrades of the Third peared in your widely-The originators of this en of integrity, and of litical opinions, and s inspired confidence, ntly the public sub-generously, indeed, so who gave all that Irebe free, should be d in a worthy man-

this the subscription used and later an adppeared inviting ten-erection of a fine gure in volunteer uninch-coat, leggings and etc.) on a spectacu-ase. A sketch of this exhibited in the win-prominent business
f. Crowds thronged to tch and opinion was at the committee were n their agreed choice his was, indeed, an memorial to the memast Limerick heroes. for the erection of the as signed, we were le site, a gift of the was levelled and a some cut-stone was the site, one felt roud that everything ording to plan and rd to the day when was a fait accompli. lence.

r the past six months ispered that all is not re stories of outside ging pressure to bear members of the comongst others, scorned but now rumour has and we hear of conbroken, of changed s being solicited for ations and other ob-cold water being ideas which inspired ows to honour their their own very
ner. I sincerely hope are not true. If they or, at least, the sub-be made aware of Bruff Memorial Comasters of their own

The private funeral of Mr. Frank Mandeville took place at Kilbehenny Cemetery recently (writes our Ballylanders correspondent). The deceased gentleman died at Carrick-on-Suir, and was the last of the patriotic Mandeville family of Mitchelstown, who gave all they had in promotion and defence of the Plan of Campaign. Most readers who know Mitchelstown will readily remember the beautiful statute of John Mandeville erected in the spacious square. The late John Mandeville was incarcerated in Tullamore Jail in 1887, and his magnificent physique succumbed to the horrors and indignities inflicted on the patriot there, and shortly after his release he died on July 8th, 1888. A beautiful towering Celtic Cross was erected then in Kilbehenny by the Irish people, and carved on that Cross is the Felon's Cap, broken sword and captive chains. The late Frank Mandeville, nephew of the great patriot, was buried in the same grave as John Mandeville. In Kilbehenny Graveyard are two very ancient headstones of 1830 vintage, depicting the cock crowing in the Garden of Gethsemane, the 30 pieces of silver, the nails, spear and sponge, together with the ladders, chalice and dice. The crown of thorns, the pillar and the scourge can be plainly seen, and a special word of appreciation must be given to the caretaker, Mr. M. O'Brien, for the manner in which he has kept those two unique headstones cleaned and made discernable for the general public to read.

WEST LIMERICK ANGLER'S EXPERIENCE

While fishing on the Deel recently, Mr. Charles Hynes, the well-known Newcastle West angler, had one of the most unusual experiences in his long angling career (writes our Newcastle West Staff Reporter). At the time he was fishing for pike with a four ounce sprat and when the bait suddenly submerged he set about preparing to land one of these greatest enemies of the trout.
However, when he brought his tackle to the surface he discovered to his amazement that attached to the bait was not a pike, but a fine

LATE MR. STOKES HUGE FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Stokes, Limerick, who Nursing Home in Monkst 1st inst., was one of the most representative seen for many years. The arrived at Clare Street 3 p.m. on Saturday last and were met by a huge Interment was in the far ground of St. Mary's Cat
The chief mourners wer W. Stokes (son), Mr. E. junior (grandson); Mr.
(son-in-law), Mr. J. N. A
Mr. F. G. Wallace and M Wallace (brothers-in-law T. R. Martin and Mr. J. laghan (nephews).

Wreaths were received following: "Bill, George and Ned"; "Swig and
"Missy, Hugh, little A Gina"; "In ever loving rance, from his loving niece, Daisy and Jennie loving remembrance, fro and children"; "With sympathy, from the mem Munster Branch, I.R.F.U deepest sympathy, from vincial Grand Lodge of N ster"; "With deepest from his brethren in 73
deepest sympathy, from mian Rugby Football C grateful remembrance of loved employer, from
"In affectionate rememb King and Ruth"; "Mr. a
P. Mahan, reme
"Sincere remembrance, muty family"; "In affec membrance, from Pat an
"With deepest sympat Montgomery"; "With sympathy, the Miller
"Fondest remembrance, C Donald"; "Peace, Patrick
"With kind remembrance, Telegram and letters were too numerous to men Officiating clergy were R. H. P. Campbell, Rec
Michael's; the Very Re
Swain, Dean of Limerick Canon T. W. Nicholson.

WATCH OUT
OOOLA A.C. C
SPORTS