

The Chairman, Mr. R. Reidy, on behalf of the Club, thanked Mr. Barry for coming and giving the Club two such excellent lectures.

The meeting then closed, all having had a most enjoyable and enlightening evening.

Correct ACID INDIGESTION

Take RENNIES for instant relief

Don't carry excess acid about with you—carry Rennies! At the first twinge, suck two tablets, one by one, and pain and discomfort soon go. As Rennies dissolve, their anti-acid ingredients are carried direct by your saliva to the troubled stomach. If you don't get quick relief from Rennies, it's time you saw your doctor. Sold by all chemists in 8d., 1/3d., and 2/3d. packets.

DEATH OF MR. R. QU Aid, KNOCKADERRY

With very much regret we announce the death of Mr. Robert Quaid, Knockaderry, who passed away in the County Home, Newcastle West, on the 10th inst. The deceased, who came of highly respected and prominent farming stock, was a widely read and most interesting figure. He took the keenest interest in literary and public affairs and in discussing them showed intelligence and enlightenment much above the ordinary. The poetic gift was strong and well developed in him, and his verses, many of which appeared from time to time in the columns of the "Limerick Leader," were of a very creditable standard. In the early days of the Gaelic League he took an active part in the movement, studying the language and doing other practical work in the Irish-Ireland cause, to which he remained devoted to the end. As an amateur actor in Gaelic League plays he showed marked ability and a fine sense of histrionic effectiveness. A kindly, sociable and highly intellectual man, he was a most entertaining conversationalist and an exceedingly genial companion. His funeral took place on Thursday of last week from Knockaderry Church to the family burial place, Clouncagh Cemetery.

NOW I feel better, Mummy!
