BEAGLING

WHY THE SPORT IS SO POPULAR

(By D.N.K.)
All sports are a game of chance and in this respect the Oakfield Beagles' numerous followers were disappointed that last Saturday night's frost proved too severe for hunting on Sunday. The venue, Fedamore, usually provides excellent hunting as there is a good supply of hares in that area, and the open nature of the country is conducive to good running. Apart from the fact that the ground was like iron and all the gaps, usually a mass of mud, like rockeries, injury to hound and follower under these circumstances is quite likely. There is also another aspect—bad scent. Scent is rarely good in frosty weather. The reason beagling is so popular is that it has so much to offer for so little. Instead of lolling in front of a fire on a Sunday afternoon, if the effort is made a really enjoyable day may be had. One of the main advantages of this sport is that it can be taken strenuously or lazily, as desired. Those with abundance of energy may run to their hearts' desire, while those even if they do not like to walk will invariably get splendid views of the animated scenes of hound and follower as "puss" circles. It is amazing how quickly one gets to know the surrounding country and place names as every Sunday takes one to a different locality and it is surprising how many little beauty spots are hidden away in forgotten corners. One becomes quite observant on these Sunday outings and during checks and walks from different draws the opportunities for the study of nature are at hand. However, these are all forgotten

CONVICTION REVERSED

At Ennis Circuit Court on Wednesday, Joseph Melvin, Lissacul, Ballaghaderreen, appealed against a sentence of one month's imprisonment, and two years' disqualification from holding a motor licence, imposed on him by Justice Hurley when convicted of driving a motor lorry in a dangerous manner. Judge Barra O Briain allowed the appeal and reversed the conviction.

LECTURES TO FARMERS

Two lectures of great interest to farmers were delivered at Newcastle West—one by Mr. Stanley Lyon, M.A., on farmers' prices and prices in general, and the other by Mr. John MacGuaghey, V.S., Department of Agriculture, on diseases in sheep and cattle. Reports of the lectures are unavoidably held over. They will appear in our next week-end issue.

EXPORT OF HORSES FOR SLAUGHTER

The Central Council of the Irish Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, at its half yearly meeting, discussed the efforts being made in Ireland to move the Government to permit the export of dressed carcasses of horses as an alternative to the export of live horses for slaughter on the Continent. The view is held, drawn up by the Council, that
